Ellen Davis

Giving the gift of life

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

"I received my first kidney donation in April of 1981," said Thomas Giglio. "It supported me for 19 years. I'm fifty three now." His kidney transplant began shutting down in 1998 and he was put on the transplant waiting list. Late last year Thomas had to begin dialysis. His sister, Wilmington Animal Control Officer Ellen Davis, volunteered to donate one of her kidneys to help him live a normal life.

More than 50,000 Americans die each year because of kidney disease, according to the National Kidney Foundation. Over 260,000 Americans suffer from chronic kidney failure and need an artificial kidney machine (dialysis) or kidney transplantation to stay alive. Of the 36,000 patients waiting for kidney transplants, only 11,000 will receive transplants this year due to a shortage of suitable organ donors.

"Most people function well with only one kidney," Ellen said. According to the Foundation, statistics for the year 1996 show that 1,814 people died awaiting a kidney donation. "Losing a kidney doesn't bother me," Ellen added. "I know the surgery will be somewhat painful, but that won't last. The kidney will give my brother his life back. That's important to me."

Thomas has been a diabetic since he was sixteen years old. "I had to have two insulin shots each day then," he said. The leading cause of kidney disease is diabetes, according to the Foundation. It accounts for 35% of the new cases each year and 25% of all cases in the United States. High blood pressure is the second leading cause of chronic kidney failure, accounting for about 30% of the cases in the U.S.

"The transplant isn't hard on me. I don't mind the surgery," Thomas said. "Dialysis is difficult, not because it is painful, but because of the amount of stress it places on my family. The rides three times each week to and from the hospital, the length of time on the machine, all create stress that a transplant would alleviate." According to the Foundation, patients over 65 who need a transplant are last on the eligibility list and usually remain on dialysis for the remainder of their lives.

"Dialysis is about 3.5 hours for each treatment. You go three times each week and usually, the next day you feel so tired," Thomas said. "Even if the transplant only lasts four years, it's worth the surgery. Having a kidney means a normal life."

"I'm more worried about my animals and my job than the surgery," Ellen said. Although her stay in the hospital will be short, no more than four days, Ellen will have restricted activities for at least a month. "I have two mini horses. The mare is pregnant," she said. Ellen also has one dog and a total of six cats. One of her cats needs medication every day, three times each day. "I'm not someone who can just sit still," Ellen said. "It'll be very frustrating not be able to take care of my animals."

Ellen said that the doctors said her movements should be restricted until the incision heals. "They told me I shouldn't lift more than five pounds. Laundry and vacuuming will have to wait," she chuckled. "I wish people were aware that it is only about two months out of your life and it can mean a real life to someone else."

"If more people did this, so many others with this devastating disease would have a higher quality of life," Ellen said. "I'd hate to be on dialysis. You really have no life with the trips to the hospital, the time you have to be on the machine. When I knew he needed a kidney, I never thought twice about giving him one of mine."

The Foundation indicated that both the donor's and recipient's surgery is easier than all other major organ transplants, and is the second most common transplant operation in the United States. The recovery period averages one month and the length of stay in the hospital averages one week. "It's such a small amount of time. Only a bit more than a month, and you give someone back their life," Ellen said.

"A 95% match reduces the chance of rejection," Thomas said. To ensure her brother's acceptance of her kidney, Ellen will undergo a series of tests and pretransplant therapy. The Foundation estimates that between 80 and 90% of transplanted kidneys are functioning two years after the operation.

"I want him to feel better. He's been nauseous all the time, because of the poison fluids [in his system]. It's not a good way to live," Ellen said. She said that it is difficult to watch her brother suffer when she knows she can help. "It's freedom versus the restriction of a dialysis machine for the rest of your life," she said.

"I have to take medicine, the steroids, to keep my kidney alive and to reduce transplant rejection," Thomas added. The Foundation said that kidney transplants require lifelong treatment with medications that suppress the immune system. In addition to kidney surgery, Thomas has had a hip as well as a knee replaced, plastic surgery, meningitis and triple bypass surgery. "Taking prednisone compromises the immune system and my resistance to disease is lower than normal," he said. "But, I still rather have surgery than go on dialysis for the remainder of my life."

"I love my brother. He's been my best friend all my life," Ellen said. "He's gone through so much and has such a great outlook on life. He's had so many different problems because of the diabetes." She said that the Police Department and the Chief have been very supportive of her decision to donate as well as the Town Manager. "I'm very thankful for their encouragement and support of me in this," she added.

"I am just thankful for the donation from my sister. I can't express my gratitude enough," Thomas said. "So many people need a kidney to survive. It's a seven week recovery period and the donation will make a world of difference in someone's life."

Ellen and Thomas have a few more tests and preparations to undergo before the actual

FRED F. CAIN struck a pose next to a shiny black Chrysler coup in 1981 at his dealership at 580 Main Street in Wilmington. The dealership was filled with many used cars, Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Chryslers, Plymouths, Studebakers and others. International trucks can be seen far in the background.

Cain's drops Chrysler franchise

Continuing the tradition

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Honk if you love history. While the news may be that for the first time ever Cain Dealership at 580 Main Street has put the brakes on its longtime cruise with the Chrysler Corporation, it is the history of the business in the proverbial rearview mirror that assures its loyal patrons that its trip into the future will continue.

After all, says Fred Cain, the owner of the dealership who took over the business from his father, "for my brother James and two sons Freddy and Steve, the automobile business is all that we know. It's in our blood."

"Originally, our father, Fred Cain, started with the Chrysler Corporation back in June of 1937," begins Cain, as he sits at his desk in his office with his brother, James and son, Fred D., Jr. "He started right down the street from here, where Williams Sign Erection, Inc. is now located on Lowell Street. In 1936 he had been working at Bates Chevrolet in Woburn as a salesman. While he was there he won a $500 award as the National Salesman of the Year. Back then $500 was a lot of money. With that money he went into the business of getting our Chrysler franchise up and running, so that he could start selling their cars. He opened up as a Chevrolet dealer with Gildart Chevrolet. His franchise was actually

"We purchased our current property here at 580 Main Street back in 1940," Cain continues. "We purchased this land from Mrs. Griffin, who owned most of the land in the area. In 1941 we built this building. On December 7, 1941 we had four walls, but no roof. A little after that point my father might be drafted, so he thought he'd go to work nights at a nearby defense project and run the dealership during the day time. That's how our dealership survived during the war."

"We had two brothers here who helped us during the war," Cain adds. "One was George Dow, and the other was Jesse Dow, and both were expert technicians. During the war years Jesse would rebuild the motors. A customer would come in at seven o'clock in the morning and drop his car off. George would take the customer's old motor out, take a new motor and put it in the car. Jesse would then take the old motor, clean it up, take it apart, and start giving it new pistons and bearings and rings. That way, the motor was rebuilt for the next day for the next customer. They had a little assembly line going here, sometimes six days a week, sometimes seven. That was a real help because it helped our customers be able to have their cars to go back and forth to their defense jobs. In those days we didn't have many cars, so we sold motors."

Miceli Bridge to close for construction

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Map out your detours now. Town Manager Michael Cairra has announced that on Saturday, January 22, the Route 62 Miceli Bridge will be closed for the entire morning and part of the afternoon. The notification of the bridge-closing was recently brought to Cairra's attention by the Massachusetts Highway Department.

The bridge will officially close at 6 a.m. and will remain closed for six to eight hours while the structural steel placement from Phase 2 of the bridge construction takes place. The decision to shut down the bridge, which was argued at by town officials and Amtrak personnel, will ensure public safety and allow the large construction equipment to operate with more ease. A Saturday workday was chosen for this bridge-closing because traffic is lighter on the weekends and commuter trains run fewer trips back and forth. A detour route has been created to assure drivers a way to their destinations. Traffic will be redirected from Main Street onto Route 129, and the route will continue onto Aldrich Road and ultimately come out on Burlington Avenue.

The Wilmington Fire and Police Departments have taken the proper steps to ensure that the morning and afternoon will pass safely and orderly.

In the event of inclement weather, a backup date of Sunday, January 23, has been set aside for the operation.

STATE TAXES AND YOUR BUSINESS

Most state taxes on business are based on the company's net income on the federal tax return, so your firm's accountant will first look for tax savings there. But state tax regulations may allow some "wiggle room" for lower figures.

For instance, some states may provide favored treatment for certain kinds of income: for investment gains, perhaps. And state taxes may not be due on shipments sent out of state. It's important to differentiate between where the order came from—which could be a local office—and where it is sent. It's usually the destination that determines the tax liability. In today's Internet trade, even service companies can "ship" out of state.

Each state is different. Some may increase tax liability by title, charging more for company officers vs. executives. Others may value property in arcane allocation formulas. Review the rules regularly.

Small business owners depend on the know how of the tax professionals at

Letter to the Editor

January is National Volunteer
Blood Donor Month.

Dear Editor
This marks the 30th year that the President of the United States has proclaimed January to be National Volunteer Blood Donor Month. It's a time to recognize and thank the heroes who voluntarily give their time and their blood to help those in need.

Why do we set aside an entire month to honor blood donors? The simple truth is that donating blood helps save lives. It may be your best friend or neighbor who needs your blood today. Or, it could be a virtual stranger who relies on your support to help them. In fact, every three seconds, someone in the United States needs a blood transfusion. It is thanks to blood donors that the American Red Cross is able to respond to the on going needs of patients throughout New England.

Every day, men, women and children are taken to the hospital and diagnosed with severe illnesses and injuries. Their treatment may include transfusions of blood and blood products, which give people of all ages a second chance at life. In recent years, it has been difficult to maintain an adequate supply of blood to meet the needs of hospitals. Winter weather can present a particular challenge in collecting enough blood products. Yet we must continue to educate people about the need for blood donors because in this age of technology and medical advances, there is still no substitute for blood. Who can donate blood? Anyone 17 years of age or older, weighing 110 pounds or more and feeling in good health may be eligible to donate blood.

The tens of thousands of volunteer blood donors across New England who give their time to help others by giving a little of themselves are heroes. The American Red Cross would like National Volunteer Blood Donor Month to be a time to honor those who give blood, and to encourage those who don't to become blood donors if they are eligible. Thank you for helping to save lives.

Sincerely,
Mary O'Neill, M.D.
Medical Director
American Red Cross Blood
Services, New England Region

This project truly represents the spirit of giving

Dear Editor
I am writing to thank everyone who participated in Minuteman Home Care's annual Senior Santa project this year, which provides holiday gifts for homebound, often isolated frail elders in your community.

Our two business partners in this effort, Crafty Yankee in Lexington Center and the Millipore Corporation in Bedford, came through in a big way this year delivering over 500 beautifully wrapped presents for Minuteman staff and volunteers to deliver to our clients. Often this is the only holiday present the elder receives and their gratitude is heartwarming.

This project truly represents the spirit of giving and the customers and employees of Crafty Yankee and the employees of Millipore deserve all our thanks for their generous osity. This year, as in the past, one story emerges that leaves us speechless. A gentleman visiting the Crafty Yankee noticed that there were 11 gift tags remaining on the tree about one week before Christmas and asked Kathy Fields, the store owner, the following: "If I give you $500 will you see that all the remaining gifts are bought and delivered?" Of course she agreed, ensuring that every elder's gift request was fulfilled.

As we enter the millennium let us all pledge to follow the example of those who gave to Minuteman's Senior Santa and do what we can to make a difference in the life of someone less fortunate.

Happy New Year!!
Joan Butler,
Executive Director
On behalf of the staff and board of Minuteman Home Care

*Tewkesbury Town Crier was ringing in the new millennium
5 hours before the Tewkesbury Town Crier*

Dear Friends:
New Year greetings to you, one and all from a rain swept Gloucestershire County on the Feast of the Epiphany or, as William Shakespeare called it, Twelfth Night.

Today then is the end of Christmastide, which as always was over almost before it had begun. The Millennium celebrations cast a long shadow over the Christmas period and we seemed to be dragged along towards 2000 at breakneck speed. I expect you with us, watched our TV screens in wonder as the midnight deadline passed in the many lands ahead of us in the world's time zones. It was a great delight for me to telephone friends in the New World from not only a New Year, but of a new century and age. I should mention at this point that both Linda and I succumbed to the latest strain of the "flu virus" to hit this country. Despite this, Sarah and I actually rang in 2000 in the bell tower of our local parish Church, some 16 miles south of Tewkesbury while earlier that same evening a beacon was lit in the vineyards, an area of high ground behind the Abbey Church in Tewkesbury itself.

Beacons were lit in every corner of the kingdom from the Orkney Islands right down to Land's End in Cornwall. These fiery signals are a reminder of the first Elizabethan era when they warned Queen Elizabeth I of the imminent approach of the Spanish Armada. Tewkesbury now has a rather grand permanent beacon made from a square post of English oak with a wrought iron fire basket attached at the top of its 12 foot length. New Year's Day itself found my dear wife Linda sufficiently recovered to join me at 12 noon to ring at the command of the Queen. Over 5000 towers of bells rang out exactly on the stroke of noon. It was a very moving experience for all those who took part.

I am not sure when the next occasion will arise that merits lighting the beacons, but rest assured I will let you know.

In the meantime if any of you good folk are thinking of visiting us this year, may I give you advance notice of the Battle of Tewkesbury (1471) re-enactment which takes place over the weekend of July 8 and 9. I can promise you it is a truly amazing spectacle with a cast of over a thousand including men at arms, knights, archers and a train of cannon. Further information may be obtained from Steve Goodchild email address: Mannscourt@Argonet.co.uk. Steve is a local historian and organiser of the Battle of Tewkesbury Society.

I had intended to write about flooding in the Tewkesbury area, but the river levels have been slowly dropping over the Christmas period. However, much of the surrounding countryside is under water. With the amount of rain that has fallen lately at the source of the Severn, high in the Welsh mountains, a flood situation is anticipated in the next few days. I will contact the river authorities when the flood warnings go out to get an actual quote from them on just how serious the situation is likely to become.

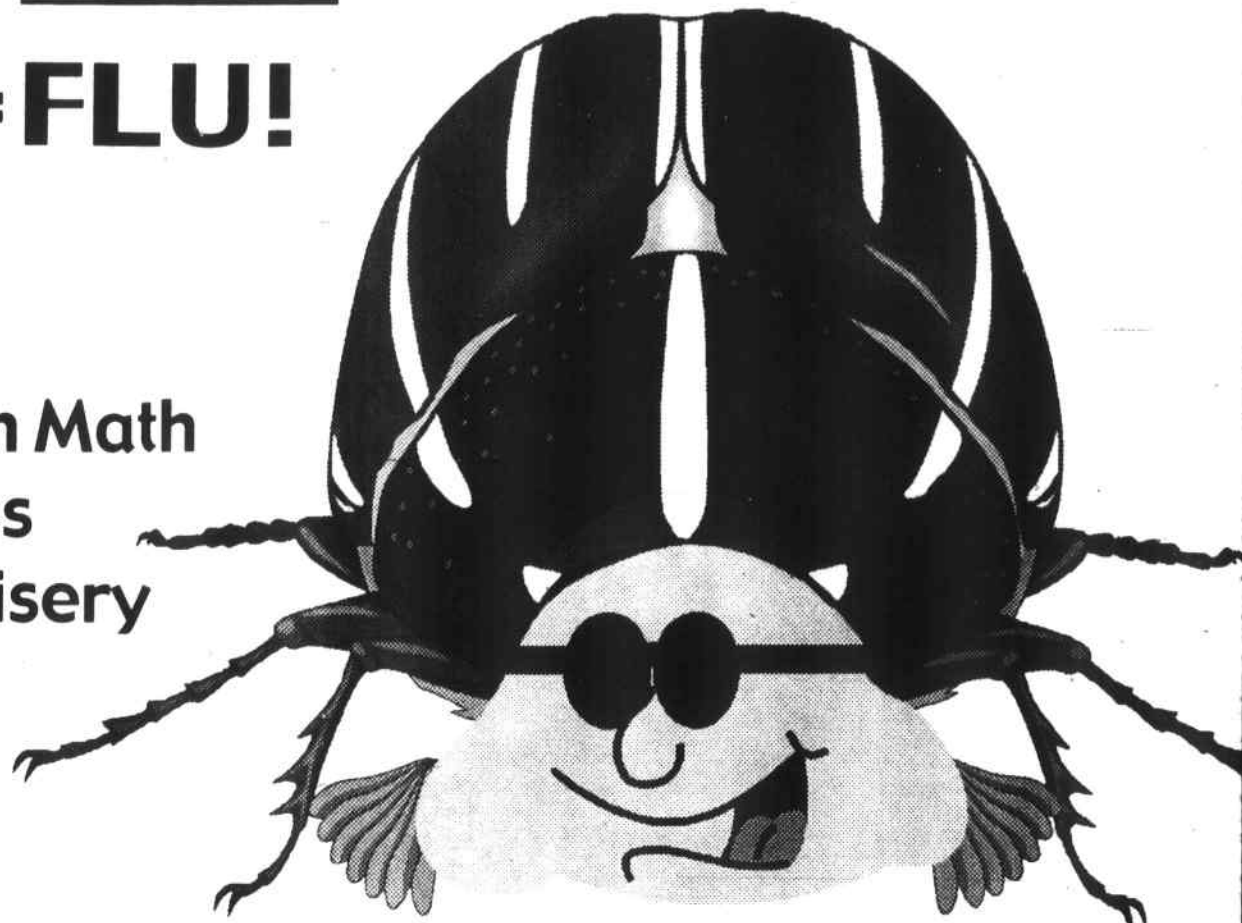

In the meantime Linda and I will take the digital camera and see if there are any suitable shots for you.

May I take this opportunity to wish you a Happy New Year and trust all is well with you and your family.

The NEW New Math? Y2K=FLU!

Millennium Math makes major misery

It's worse than "New Math"

The Y2K bug has come to teach us to look where we don't expect a problem. Everyone thought the bug would infect our computers, but we were wrong!

Y2K bug hits Wilmington & Tewksbury

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

FLU-VILLE - Pass the tissues! When the clock struck midnight on New Year's Eve people were bracing for the arrival of the notorious "Y2K bug," which everyone believed would pester them with enough computer glitches to spur a nationwide disaster. What people didn't know was that the "Y2K bug" was, in all actuality, a strain of the flu that would take hold and grip Tewksbury & Wilmington residents and everyone else throughout the Commonwealth. Or make them grip their stomachs, anyway. As Peg Thibault, Director of Emergency Services at Saints Memorial Medical Center in Lowell, could tell you, the buzz on this bug's statistics is nothing to sneeze at.

"The traffic for the flu has been heavy this season," says Thibault. "On a daily basis we are seeing 25 to 30 patients with flu-like symptoms. We average about 150 or 160 patients a day, so the percentage of flu patients in our total volume has been high this year."

Perhaps Wilmington Selectman Bob Cain put it best. After the Board of Selectmen whisked through its agenda in an unusually breezy 75 minutes on Monday night, Cain fought back his own sniffles, looked around, and adjourned the meeting by noticing that "all of us seem to have a case of the miseries."

"We're seeing the gamut of everything," says Diane Alfieri, the Nurse Manager in the Emergency Department at Wilmington Family Health Center. "Before the flu season hit us early before the holidays, we were seeing an average of 30 patients a day. Now that the flu has hit, we're seeing 50 people a day. We're seeing patients for a number of reasons that go beyond the flu, but, yes, since the flu season began our numbers have been higher. It seems like the trend across the state, as well."

You heard it here: The "Y2K bug" began to sting locals right at the time of the new year.

"I'd say the cases started to get higher in number near the very end of December and these first two weeks of January," reinforces Thibault. "It could continue, too, through the end of February or well into March."

"The majority of people coming to us with symptoms have been working people and the elderly," says Thibault. "We haven't seen kids so much because they tend to manifest the flu in different ways, such as through viral infections, for example."

At the Wilmington Family Health Center, it seems that even fewer people are immune.

"It's affecting all age groups here," says Alfieri. "No one is being spared from this flu."

People have been flooding the medical center with tales of chills, upper respiratory problems, abdominal and gastrointestinal pain, aches, coughs, and nausea. How long do these patients have to stay at the hospital before such said pains as gas pass?

"A low volume of patients are actually admitted into the center for medical treatment," answers Thibault. "We'll do blood tests and x-rays, and then we'll send people home after telling them to rest, drink lots of fluids, and take Advil or Tylenol for the pain in their joints. A high volume of dehydrated patients do need IV attention, so we provide that for them."

Thibault, who has so far eluded the bug, offers common sense as a way to swat this not-so-common cold once and for all.

"At this point it is wise to avoid crowds of people," she suggests. "Get lots of rest, and drink a lot to keep your body hydrated. Keep some Tylenol on hand, if you feel any aches and pains coming on. Call your doctor if you start feeling badly. Encourage sick colleagues and students to stay home from work and school."

In other words, do everything your mother taught you to do.

And wash your hands before dinner!

Wilmington Public Library has

Resources for the College Bound

WILMINGTON - Looking for the right college, especially one that is affordable, is a daunting task for students and parents. The library has many resources on colleges, scholarships and financial aid. The Internet is a good resource for information on specific colleges with most colleges having their own web site. The library has available the "FAFSA" forms that are used to apply for financial aid for higher education. Helpful web sites include:

Boston Public Library's Higher Education Information Center, www.heic.org

Financial Aid - a smart student guide to financial aid, www.finaid.org

U.S. Department of Education, www.ed.gov

National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, www.nasfaa.org

Bookends

Bookends, the library's book discussion group, met Thursday, January 6. The members gave nine thumbs up and two thumbs down for Revere Beach Boulevard by Roland Merullo. The book that will be discussed in February is Where River Turns to Sky by Gregg Kleiner. Copies of this book are available at the library.

Kids Club 2000

Kids Club 2000 is a program that will focus on the interests of older children, ages eight to 10. Take your ideas on what kind of books, programs, and activities you want to see at the library to the first meeting for ages eight to 10 on Friday, January 21 at 3:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Book Sorting

The Friends of the Library book sale volunteers will be getting together Saturday, January 22 at 9 a.m. to sort books for the annual book sale in July. If you have any books to donate to the sale, you can take them to the library that morning.

Martin Luther King Jr. Day

The library will be closed Monday, January 17 in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

BACK IN 1937 Fred F. Cain started his dealership in Wilmington. The building on Lowell St had no inside bay to work on cars. The lift was outside. Looking carefully one can see George and Jesse Dow working on a car on the lift.

JUST BEFORE THE HURRY-CAIN. This 1964 Plymouth sported a roof full of trophies, and the Saturday Evening Post Benjamin Franklin Quality Dealership Award. In 1965 the racing continued with a hopped up Hemicalled The Hurry-Cain. (It was very fast!)

Seniors can get help State pharmacy program provides money for prescriptions

BOSTON - Tewksbury's State Senator Sue Tucker is encouraging local citizens to spread the word to their family and neighbors about the state's new Senior Pharmacy Program. The Senior Pharmacy Program provides up to $1,250 per year to help pay for prescription drugs for eligible senior citizens.

"We need to get the word out to local residents about the Senior Pharmacy Program because there are many elderly citizens who are very much in need of financial relief for their costly prescription drugs," Senator Tucker said. "We all should make an extra effort to talk to family members, neighbors and friends to make sure they are aware of the money available."

Eligible seniors must be age 65 or over and have a gross annual income less than $15,492 (individual) or $20,769 (married couple). Married applicants may apply as individuals. Seniors can apply even if they have prescription drug coverage from an HMO or other insurer.

For more information about the Massachusetts Senior Pharmacy Program, please call the Program directly at 1-800-243-4636 or Senator Tucker's office at 617-722-1612.

Senior Pharmacy Program

Want help paying for prescriptions?

The Senior Pharmacy Program (SPP) provides up to $1,250 per year to help pay for prescription drugs. Prescriptions covered include all Therapeutic Classes except those excluded from MassHealth. Some prescription drugs may require prior authorization from the Division (MassHealth/Medicaid). Insulin and disposable syringes with needles are included in the benefit.

Are you eligible?

*Massachusetts resident

*Age 65 or older or under age 65, work less than 40 hours per month and meet the disability guidelines for CommonHealth

*Gross annual income is less than $15,492 (individual) or $20,769 (married couple). Married applicants may apply as individuals.

*Not enrolled in MassHealth or CommonHealth

Cars needed not be local to receive the Fred Cain stamp of approval and be sold from his dealership. Mr. Cain would travel considerable distances if he believed that a fine automobile was waiting for him at the other end.

"Our father used to travel throughout Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and even New York," mentions Cain. "If somebody called him and said that they had a brand new car in their garage or their barn, they would ask him if he would be interested in buying it. He'd travel all throughout New England, and he'd buy these cars. He bought roughly thirty-five or forty of them before the war, which is before they stopped production. I remember one time when we went up to Vermont in 1944 and he bought thirteen cars in brand-new condition that were built in 1940. They were almost four years old, and they had been sitting in a barn for the whole time. We brought them back to Wilmington with us."

"Of course, after the war years cars were more readily available," informs Cain. "Back then you could only sell cars for a certain fixed price. People who had driven used cars throughout the war years had rebuilt them, and since there was a shortage of cars after World War II they were able to get more for them than what they paid for them years earlier. You had these cars that had been driven for eighty or a hundred thousand miles, and they were worth more than when they were bought brand new. My son Fred has a '40 Plymouth that was sold by a fellow up in Lowell named Harold Shea. Harold had only taken that car out on the road on weekends. He didn't use it during the week to get back and forth from work. It was a weekend automobile for him."

Cain pauses and points out a picture hanging on his office wall. A framed photograph boasts a 1940 Plymouth that came with a bill of sales posted at a whopping $735.

"There was another 1940 Plymouth that we got maybe ten years ago that had 38,000 miles on it," remembers Cain. "The fellow who owned it was working for a company that told him that if he wanted to keep his job he would have to take a 20% pay cut. This happened during what we referred to in the automobile business as the 'depression years,' which were 1989, 1990, and 1991. Everybody else just referred to them as the 'recession years.' He came in here and he wanted to sell his car because he had just bought a new home, and he had taken that 20% pay cut to keep his job. With tears in his eyes, he parted with the automobile. We kept this car as a name-sake of sorts because it is the last car of its kind that we had that our father sold back in the 1940s."

With World War II behind him, elder Cain not only expanded the range of his business, he expanded the size of the automobiles he dealt.

"After the war years, my father developed the International truck franchise," adds Cain. "The trucks he sold were to a contractor out of Wakefield named Hathaway. He built the New York Thruway. These trucks were delivered straight from the international plant in Chicago to the New York Thruway."

"At one point in New England we were the second largest dealer for International trucks," Cain states proudly. With a self-deprecating smile, he also notes, "This was based on the fact that the St. Johnsbury dealership always sold one more truck than we did. They would always assign one more truck, so that we would never be able to claim that we were the single largest seller in New England."

"From Wilmington we sold a lot of trucks that were sent out to such places as the New York Thruway and the Alaskan Highway," continues Cain. "The various contractors who worked in the area would take one of our trucks, go out at five in the morning, deliver the truck down to an operator, and then take the old one away. After driving one of the new trucks all day it was hard to get the contractors out of them once they were delivered."

In the late 1960s the Cain Dealership won the Saturday Evening Post Benjamin Franklin Quality Dealer Award for outstanding sales and service to their customers.

"Going into 1980 Chrysler Corporation found itself applying to Congress for a loan guarantee," says Cain, fast-forwarding approximately twenty years. "Senator Paul Tsongas was a very close friend of our father, and three or four years after our father died in 1977 he came to us and said that he wanted to do something to arrange that loan guarantee. I called Lee Iacocca and tried to set up a meeting between him and Tsongas, so that they could discuss the possibility of the loan. After Tsongas started the legislation to get the loan guarantee underway we had a meeting of 160 Chrysler Corporation dealers at the Fitzgerald Building in Boston. Tsongas went before all of us and explained what was needed to get this legislation for the loan guarantee passed in Congress."

"The support of the dealer body was very crucial, Tsongas explained to us," asserts Cain. "We contacted all of our local Senators and Representatives in Congress in Washington. My brother James and I went down to Washington D.C. and met a gentleman at the airport named Frank Shannon, who was an aide to our father when he was a state rep in Boston. Shannon was then the aide to Congressman Joe Early. He took us around and introduced us to the various reps and senators. We were able to go around and explain to everybody that the loan guarantee would ensure 660,000 jobs, not only for the Chrysler Corporation, but for the dealers and their families too. If they didn't approve the loan guarantee it would have cost the government a one per cent increase in unemployment that would result in a cost of over a billion dollars in unemployment checks. By approving the loan guarantee, the government was actually helping itself in sparing itself high unemployment expenses and a catastrophe in the economy throughout the country. This loan guarantee was very, very important. The good thing is that out of all of the loans that were given during that period, Chrysler Corporation was one of the few to pay their loans back early."

"In 1980 we became very worried about our own franchise and whether or not it would be able to survive," recalls Cain. "The loan guarantee saved our franchise. At that meeting that we held at the Fitzgerald Building in Boston, there were sixteen dealers there who had their termination papers in their hands. Once they heard Senator Tsongas speak, though, only one of those sixteen people handed their termination in because they were still concerned about their real estate. At that point in time we had been paying Jimmy Carter 22%. That's just what we were paying to park our cars in our yard. Our home mortgage was 17%. Our economy was hurting all of us, so thank God there was a change in administration."

More hard times awaited.

"Since then we went on to the recessions of '89, '90, and '91," continues Cain. "We call those three years 'the Depression Years' because in that period we put in a lot of time, effort, and monetary value to keep the franchise alive. It didn't matter what the model, year, and make of a car was, people at that time just didn't have the money on hand to make an investment in an automobile. In 1992 a turnaround came about and the economy picked up. Things have pretty much stayed the same since then. The economy has been fairly decent."

"Our situation is that in 63 years we have been a stand-alone Chrysler franchise," Cain states. "The core market over the past five or six years has been sports utilities and trucks. Our stand-alone franchise does not carry sports utilities and trucks. Our sister organization, Dodge, has trucks, cars, and sports utilities. Jeep has sports utility. We didn't have any other franchises or any other foreign cars to fall back on. The trend in the automobile business today is that if you only have one product to sell it's going to be hard to exist because the value of a car that you can sell for has dropped tremendously."

And so, for the first time in 63 years, Cain Dealership and Chrysler are parting ways and going down separate roads.

"A lot of the manufacturers today have what they call Project 2000," informs Cain about his decision. "Project 2000 means that certain dealerships from certain areas are going to try to combine with other franchises with the same make, which would be either General Motors or Ford or Chrysler. If they can't combine, then they'd prefer to sell out to another franchise that can combine."

"Our decision to part company with Chrysler was one forced onto us by economics," Cain elaborates. "The decision took place on the 21st of December, 1999. We no longer have a Chrysler franchise."

Rest assured, the friendly service that has helped generations of customers with their automobiles will continue.

"In the interim we are servicing our customers," Cain assures. "We have our customers coming in for service on a regular basis. If a customer has some kind of problem that we are unable to handle, then we have working relationships with other dealers, so we can still help them. We're not closing our doors. We're still operating, and we're still selling cars, but it's just that we're not operating with a Chrysler Corporation franchise at this time."

"Like I've said, working with automobiles is all we know," concludes Cain, his love for the field of automobiles made clear. "For me and my brother James and my sons Freddy and Steven, it's in our blood. We'll continue to work throughout the future in this business as long as it has value to us. We hope to continue to exercise our expertise to serve the people that our father started serving way back in the late thirties, and that we personally had the opportunity and privilege to start servicing back in the mid-1950s."

Wilmington Senior Topics

WILMINGTON - Welcome to the Year 2000. Hope everyone had a happy and safe holiday. The holiday season was very busy and eventful in many ways for the senior center and many seniors in the community. The community of Wilmington did itself again with the outpouring of generosity to children, "Toys for Tots", and elders, "Giving Tree."

The "Giving Tree" was an overwhelming success. The program was able to give out 67 packages to elders in the community. These packages varied from fruit baskets, full dinner baskets, sweaters, stationary, stamps, gift certificates and much, much more. This year we also had two volunteers from the West Intermediate School, Jillian Abell and Erin Dorrante. They helped set up the "Giving Tree" to assisting in delivering all presents personally along with the director. I personally thank everyone who helped make our second annual Giving Tree Event such a success.

The "Toys for Tots" was also very successful. West Real Estate picked up the toys on a weekly basis, to ensure a happy and Merry Christmas for children. Thank you very much to everyone who was able to participate. The Senior Center has received an award of appreciation from the United States Marine Corps Reserve for our assistance in the program.

Again, I want to thank everyone for all their help and support throughout 1999. The center would not be able to function without the dedication of its volunteers. May the year 2000 be a safe and healthy year for everyone.

Also, updated information of the Senior Pharmacy Program.

The Massachusetts Legislature has expanded the Senior Pharmacy Program which provides financial assistance in paying for prescription drugs. The new guidelines are as follows:

1. Income guidelines are now $15,492 for individuals and $20,769 for couples.

2. Benefits have increased from $750 to $1250 yearly. Seniors enrolled in current plan can access the increased benefits immediately.

3. Applications that were denied due to income will be reviewed and determined based on new income guidelines.

4. The six month residency requirement has been eliminated.

Golden Age

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Seniors celebrated New Year's Eve in great style. They were greeted with champagne and appetizers. After indulging in this, they were escorted in the main room through an archway of golden glitter and lights.

The comments - wow - great - wonderful - what a surprise. What they saw was a room full of gold. The ceiling balloons were all gold. The tables were decorated with a gold centerpiece, a decorated champagne glass the year 2000 on it. Around that were golden star cut out candle holders, one for everyone to take one.

Gold top hats - tiaras, noise makers. The year 2000 confetti spread all over the white table cloth. A beautiful sight to see. As the clock struck 12, Auld Lang Syne was being played. Golden balloons were flying everywhere. Streamers were flying, noise makers were blaring, people everywhere hugging and kissing welcoming in the new millennium. We made it. The caterers were Joseph's from Franklin. The food and the service was great. The band "The Perfect Match" was excellent.

I would like to thank as I have many times my entertainment committee for another job well done. Linda, our coordinator and Carol as usual are always there for us. Thank you. And Larry, our custodial engineer, thank you for the decorations were unforgettable. Thanks to everyone who helped in anyway. A night like this took man hours of preparation.

Without all of your help none of this could have happened. My entertainment committee may rest now. The next millennium will not be around for a while. Let's all make the coming year a happy and healthy one. Happy New Year, everyone.

John R. Bangs many years with Springfield Terminal for Transportation

TEWKSBURY - John Robert Bangs, 51, died Saturday morning, January 8, 2000 at his home in Bradford after a lengthy illness. He was the husband of Cecile P. (Cote) Bangs of Bradford, with whom he celebrated a fourth wedding anniversary this past July 22.

Born in Somerville, he was the son of the late Robert W. and Mary E. Niles Bangs, but had lived in Tewksbury most of his life where he attended Tewksbury public school. He moved to South Lawrence several years ago, and finally to Bradford this past October.

He was employed as a yard clerk for the Springfield Terminal for Transportation for many years and belonged to the T.C.U., Transportation Communication Union.

In addition to his widow he leaves two brothers, Robert W. Bangs Jr. of Pelham, N.H. and Edward Bangs of Centerville, three sisters, Priscilla Carcioli of Billerica, Barbara Creamer of Burlington and Frances Carvalho of Dracut; his stepfather, Victor Laferriere and many nieces and nephews.

He was also the former husband of the late Jeannette Duhamel.

Funeral services were scheduled for Tuesday in the Tewksbury Funeral Home followed by cremation. Memorial contributions made to the American Heart Association, 20 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701 will be appreciated.

Stephen E. Bowden, Sr. retired Tewksbury Hospital nursing attendant

TEWKSBURY - Stephen Edward Bowden, Sr., 71, died Thursday, January 6, 2000 at Saints Memorial

Medical Center in Lowell. He was the husband of Lorraine E. (Lord) Bowden, R.N., with whom he celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary this past November 7.

Born in Lowell November 2, 1928, he was the son of the late Charles E. and Marion (Shanley) Bowden. He lived in Tewksbury most of his life, and was educated in the Tewksbury school system.

During the Korean Conflict, he served with the U.S. Army.

In his earlier years, he was employed as an automobile painter at the former Lowell Motor Sales, and in his later years, Tewksbury Hospital, where he worked as a nursing attendant. Mr. Bowden was a very quiet and private man who kept to his family and enjoyed gardening and staying home.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his son Stephen E. Bowden Jr. of Tewksbury, two sisters, Dorothy Barney of Ipswich and Phyllis Robertson of Pelham, N.H., two brothers and a sister-in-law, Charles Bowden of Fla., and Joseph and his wife Barbara (Tareila) Bowden of Tewksbury; his brother-in-law, Manuel Parevoliotis, and many fond nieces and nephews.

He was also a brother of the late George Bowden, Marion Parevoliotis and Janice Marcocelle, and brother-in-law of the late William Barney, Stuart Robertson and Albert Marcocelle.

Following his cremation, a memorial service was held at noon on Wednesday in the Tewksbury Funeral Home. Relatives and friends were received one hour prior to the service. Interment followed in Tewksbury Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorials to the American Heart Association, 20 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701, will be appreciated.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

TEWKSBURY - Bridge activities start January 13 at 1 p.m. Bridge players will meet in the crafts room. The Senior Center will be closed Monday, January 17 in recognition of Martin Luther King Day. A pleasant holiday is wished to all.

The Friends of the Elderly, Inc. will hold a meeting at the Senior Center Tuesday, January 18. The meeting will be held in the main hall beginning at 7 p.m. All are welcome.

As noted in previous columns, the Advanced Quilting Class will resume Wednesday, January 19 at 9 a.m. and the intermediate class will resume Friday, January 21 at 9 a.m. It is very possible that we will be starting a new class. At present there are six people listed on the interest list. A few more would be wonderful. This class is free, any costs incurred would be that of materials.

Our Board of Health Nurse, Virginia Desmond, will be talking about "depression" at her next educational seminar on Thursday, January 20. This lecture will be held in the crafts room beginning at 10:15 a.m.

In the afternoon on the 20th, the Council on Aging will hold its monthly meeting which will begin at 3 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

We have purchased another 20 tickets for the Pharaohs of the Sun Exhibit at the Museum of Fine Arts which is taking place Monday, January 24. The cost of this trip is $21 and includes mini coach transportation, admission and an audio tour cassette. Lunch will be on your own.

An activities meeting is being planned for Tuesday, January 25. This meeting will be held in the main hall at 7 in the evening. All are welcome to attend. The agenda for the meeting is - the year ahead!

Rita Richardson will begin tap dance classes again on Monday morning starting January 24. Classes will begin right after the box aerobics class at 9:30 a.m. There is an interest list on the lobby bulletin board of those interested in tap class. If you'll be going, please put your name on the list so we will have some idea on the size of the class.

On Thursday, January 27, embroidery classes will resume. Eleanor Corey will be bringing in samples of the projects available. Beginner embroiderers are welcome.

On the last Friday morning of each month, Rep. Jim Miceli will hold office hours for senior citizens at the Tewksbury Senior Center. Friday, January 28, beginning at 9 a.m., will be the first date that office hours will be held beginning at 9 a.m. If you have a concern that you would like to discuss, this would be the time to drop by

The craft/quilt classes have decided to attend the "Hollywood Costumes from the Silver Screen" Exhibit at the Lowell Textile Museum on Wednesday, February 2. After the exhibit, the classes will be going to a fabric store and out to eat both of which will be on your own and not included in the $8 trip fee. This trip is very limited with regard to space.

Lastly, we want to note the date of our COA Valentine Dance which will be held Friday, February 11. The evening will include a buffet at 6:30 p.m. and dancing to the music of the "Perfect Match Band."

A pleasant week is wished to all.

Rabies clinic Jan. 28

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN
TEWKSEURY It's time for Snoopy and Garfield to get their rabies shots.

Tewksbury Dog Officer Walter
Collins has scheduled a rabies clinic for dogs and cats on Saturday, January 22, 2000, from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. The clinic will be held at the DPW Garage on 999 Whipple Road.
Moon S. Kim, DVM, will be the attending veterinarian.

Please bring to the clinic you previously issued Rabies Certificate to help determine the vaccination expiration date.

Dogs must be at least six months of age. They also must be wearing a leash.

Cats must be in a cage or box, or they must be handheld and restrained by the owner.

The fee is $10.00 per dog or cat.
Elizabeth Carey, Town Clerk and
Staff, will be there to issue the Year 2000 annual dog license. There will also be available a Year 2000 Town
Census Drop Box.

In the event of inclement weather, the clinic will announce its cancellation on WLLH (1400 AM) and WCAP (980 AM) before noon on Saturday, January 22.

Shooting woes continue for boys hoop team

By MICHAEL LIUZZA
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington boys basketball team certainly made things interesting on Tuesday night against Hamilton-Wenham, but in the end poor shooting finally did them in.

Despite a heroic final-minute performance by junior Eric Swiezynski, who drained three three-pointers in a row, the Wildcats killed themselves with a 17-for-59 shooting display, falling to the Hamilton-Wenham Generals, 50-49, at WHS. With the win, the Generals improve to 8-2 on the season, while Wilmington falls back to 4-4.

"Well, you certainly need to put the ball in the hoop to win," said disappointed Wilmington head coach Jim McCune. "Tonight the offensive execution was there, but we couldn't score."

Swiezynski finished the game with 18 points and 8 rebounds, but was just 1-for-10 from the field in the first half and 5-for-14 in the second.

"Swiezynski came up big at the end, but we really needed him to hit more of his shots," said McCune.

Senior co-captain Darren Arciero finished the game with nine points, and co-captain Sean Quigley finished with 8, despite fouling out midway through the second half.

"I know that Quigley is a better player than what he showed tonight," said McCune.

Quigley started the game off nicely with a three-pointer, but soon after he fouled a General from behind the three-point line, and the shooter would drain the shot and the ensuing foul shot. This gave Wilmington a 5-4 lead.

The Generals took a 12-9 lead after another three-pointer with 8:30 left to play in the half. But poor shooting by both teams kept the score in tact for several minutes until McCune finally called a time-out.

"At this point I felt we were getting quality shots off, but they just weren't falling," explained McCune.

Immediately after the time-out, Tim Riley layed one in and was fouled in the process. After he hit his foul shot, the score was knotted at 12 apiece. Then with just under two minutes remaining, Swiezynski hit his first shot of the game, closing the General lead, 21-18.

But after that the Wildcats began to turn the ball over and were unable to even get a shot off. At the half, the score was Hamilton Wenham 23, Wilmington 18.

Once again, Quigley opened up the half with a three. The Generals followed with two quick jumpshots, and the Wildcats went cold from the field until Swiezynski drove to the basket and scored with 12:30 left to go in the game.

Sophomore Kyle Hendricks displayed some terrific hustle, grabbing several of his own rebounds until he eventually scored, making it 33-28 Generals. Then Swiezynski hit a three with eight minutes remaining to cut the lead down to two, 35-33.

The Wildcats then got themselves into foul trouble, giving Hamilton-Wenham numerous chances to score, most of which they capitalized on. With just three minutes remaining, Darren Arciero hit a huge three-pointer, making the score 44-38 in favor of the Generals.

That's when Swiezynski began to light things up.

The first three he drained came with a minute to go in the game, making the score 47-41. Ten seconds later, he struck again, bringing the Wilmington crowd to its feet, and the Wildcats trailed by just three. His final three came with 12 seconds to go in the game, and it looked as if Wilmington might be able to pull off the comeback victory.

But it was not to be. On Hamilton-Wenham's next possession, a General was fouled as he sunk a huge basket. The foul shot was good, and now the Wildcats' found themselves down, 50-47 with seven seconds to play.

Swiezynski tried one last time to tie up the game yet again, but his shot fell short of the hoop. Arciero quickly layed it in, but time expired and the Wildcats comeback fell just short, 50-49.

"We really did a good job defensively tonight," said McCune. "But like I said before, you can't win if the ball doesn't go in the hoop."

Wilmington will travel to Tewksbury on Friday for a re-match of the Christmas Tournament Championship game. The game time has been changed from 7:30 to 6:00 p.m.

The puck certainly stops in the 'Cats end

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Through their first four plus games, it was very impressive that goaltender Mike O'Connor didn't let up a goal until late in the first period of the fifth game of the season. In that game, he was battling an upper-respiratory problem, but still played.

This past week in the team's sixth game, O'Connor sat out against Masconomet as he had the flu that seems to have gotten a piece of everyone on this side of the Mississippi River. Just a few days after missing that game, and a week after recovering from his upper respiratory problem, O'Connor and the rest of the WHS ice hockey team posted its fifth shut out in seven games, beating a very solid Triton team, 2-0.

O'Connor might not be among the best goalies to suit up for WHS, and he knows that. He also knows that his team in particular his defense has a lot to do with the five shut outs. But it's an absolute amazing feat, that through six games, he has allowed just two goals and those two goals came when he wasn't feeling 100 percent.

And through those six wins, the 'Cats have beaten some pretty good teams, such as Xaverian, Lynnfield and now Triton.

A true test will come this week, with three tough games in four days as Newburyport comes to Ristuccia Rink for the first home game on Wednesday night while his paper is printing. Less than 24 hours later, the 'Cats will travel to Janas Rink in Lowell for an afternoon matinee (3 pm) non-league game against Tewksbury, before coming back home on Saturday against a big, strong Pentucket team.

"This will be a tough week, especially playing on Thursday after the Wednesday night game," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "We just hope we can continue playing some good hockey."

Last Wednesday night, Wilmington lost its first game of the season to rival Masconomet, 2-1. Sophomore Joe "Lucky" Luciano got the call in-between the pipes for his first varsity start and he certainly passed with flying colors.

"That was a real tough situation to be in," said Scanlon of Luciano. "Coming in and starting his first game for a 5-0 team and starting for Mike with all of his success is very tough. But he played very well, I was really happy for Lucky."

Luciano would turn away 17 shots, as the 'Cats pretty much dominated the play. They just couldn't score as they would put over 35 shots on net.

"We came to play, everyone played well and put solid efforts in. We just couldn't capitalize on our many scoring chances. We had three power plays in the first period and came away with nothing," said Scanlon.

Several days later on Saturday night, Wilmington and Triton played a very solid two-way exciting up-and-down game with the 'Cats getting the better end of it, winning 2-0. Geoff Ferreira scored the first goal on a nice second effort, as he put home a rebound flipping the puck to the top corner. Brian Velardo and Mike Montalto got the assists.

The game would remain 1-0 until last in the game. Triton would pull its goalie for the 6-on-5 situation, but Dan Torpey was able to score an empty net goal with assists going to Eric Banda and Jay Gillis to ice the victory.

O'Connor came up huge down the stretch, making one beautiful save as he was screened with about 20 seconds to play.

KIM GILLESPIE HAS TURNED UP HER COMPETITIVE PLAY over the last year. (File Photo)

Gillespie hopes to jump to the Big Meet

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington junior Kim Gillespie developed into one of the Wildcats' most consistent and successful track-and-field athletes last season. And this year, Gillespie has picked up right where she left off.

The Wildcats have had only three meets and already Gillespie has qualified for the state meet in each of her three events. She qualified in the 300-yard dash (42.2) and the high jump (5') in only the Wildcats' second meet relay team of junior Michele Lemos, Gillespie, senior Lynn Hurley, and junior Becky Rufo qualified for the states with an impressive time of 4:35. To qualify, the Wildcats needed a time of only 4:44.

"I put a lot of pressure on myself to do well and to win," said Gillespie giving a reason for her success. "That is what keeps me going strong."

Said Wilmington head coach Kara Kane, "She is very tough and determined, (Gillespie) wants to win."

And win she does. However, the success did not come instantly for Gillespie. She admitted that during her freshman year, her first year in track-and-field, she had not found her competitive edge or a huge desire to win traits that are no longer present.

"I was totally coming into (track-and-field) blind," said Gillespie. "I wanted to be competitive, but, it was not a big deal at all. I wasn't (yet) a die hard."

Nonetheless, in the spring of her freshman year, after a winter of learning the 50-yard dash and the high jump, Gillespie tasted success for the first time as a member of the 4x100 team, a team that went on to the states. Little did Gillespie know at the time, but, states would soon become old news. Gillespie's success in the 4 x 100 was just the beginning of bigger and better accomplishments.

Gillespie returned her sophomore year and former head coach Amy Baker made the decision that Gillespie would be better suited as a runner in the 300 rather than the 50. Gillespie would also participate in the 4 x 400 and high jump. However, Baker's decision put Gillespie in the 300, proved to be the best move for Gillespie.

"(When I changed events) is when I came into my own," said Gillespie. "(Baker) thought I could do well in the 300. When I did, I wanted to keep it going."

"I wanted to win. It was no longer, 'oh, whatever.'"

With a new event and new attitude, Gillespie went on to have a tremendous sophomore season. During the winter Gillespie qualified for the States in each of her three events. She then qualified for the All-States in the 300 and 4 x 400. Her season was not finished.

In the spring, Gillespie qualified for the states as part of 4 x 400 relay team and in the 400. She took a strong third place in the 400 and qualified for the All-States in both the 400 and 4 x 400.

However, her most memorable moment throughout her career came last spring at the Cape Ann League Meet.

"I won the 400 and the 4 x 400," said Gillespie. "We wanted it bad in the 4 x 4 and obviously I wanted to win the 400. (After all), I came in the favorite. And, I wanted to stay the favorite."

Gillespie's work ethic and determination to win have not gone unnoticed. She was named a captain by her coaches this year because of the leadership ability she had shown over the course of the past two years.

"(Gillespie) can get the girls' attention in a minute's notice," said Kane, who's team is 2-1 this season. "She gets a very good example and the girls listen to her. She is a good leader."

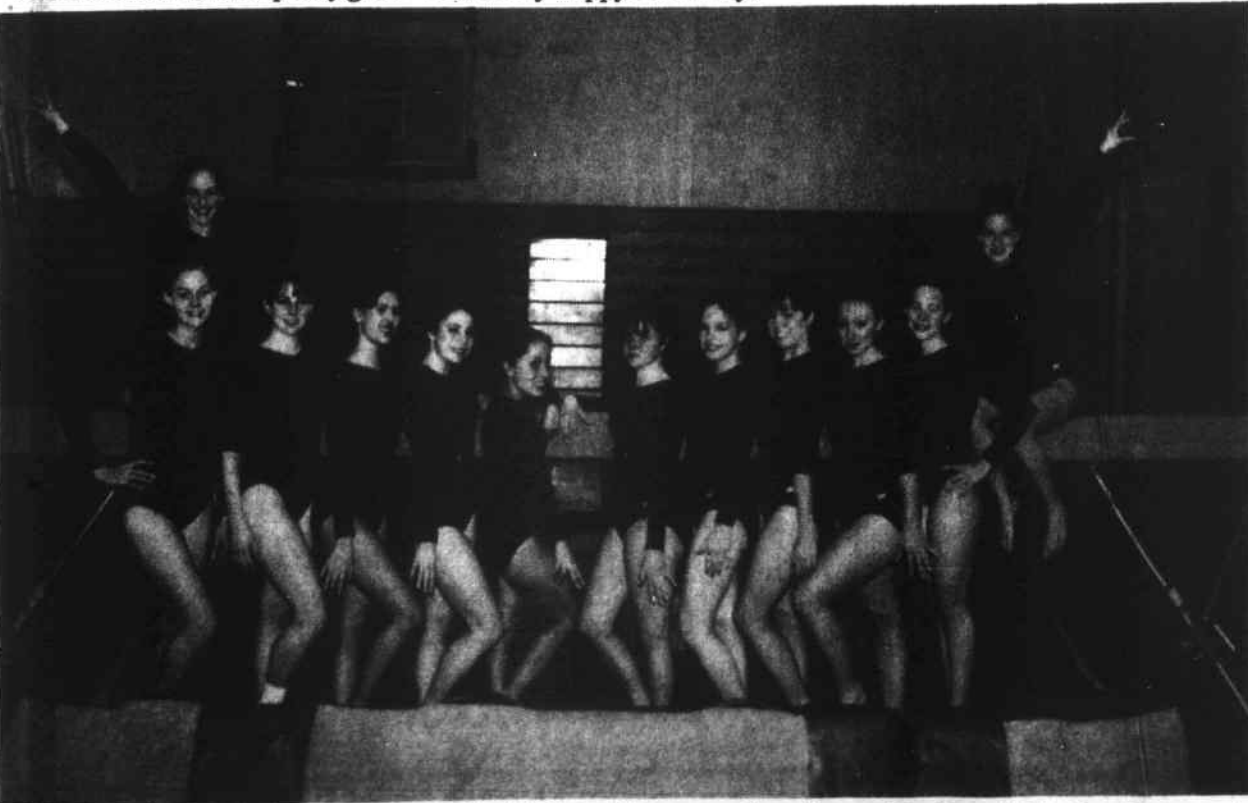

Said Gillespie of her role as captain, "I was honored to be made a captain. I like (the position). It is a good feeling to know you have something to do with how (the other girls) look at track."

Gillespie has achieved many goals since finding her competitive edge during her sophomore year. She has been to the states and reached as far as the All-States. So, what is next?

"My goal is to reach the New Englands," said Gillespie. "And if I do it this year, I'd want to do it again next year."

Cipriani gives historic performance

Wilmington High senior center Meredith Cipriani had a monster game on Tuesday night scoring 25 points, while grabbing 25 rebounds and blocking 6 shots in the girls 52-50 overtime win over Hamilton-Wenham. [Sp. Ed].

FROM THE PRESS BOX

JAMIE POTE

The internet is a funny thing, especially when you talk with someone you don't know. Well for me, I was able to interview a professional baseball player on Saturday night through instant messages. The player? Lou Pote, a pitcher for the Anaheim Angels. How strange is that?

To my knowledge I'm not related to him. He's a 28-year-old who came up half way through the 1999 season with the Angels and pitched extremely well, including a relief appearance against the Red Sox.

This time last year, I had a conversation with his 22-year-old sister, Mary. The first time I talked with her I had joked asking her if she was related to Lou, who at the time had spent six years in the minor leagues between the San Francisco Giants, Montreal Expos, St. Louis Cardinals and Anaheim organizations. Mary said she was, and when I told her that I was a sports reporter who had followed her brother because we have the same uncommon last names, she said at some time in the future she'd set up an interview for me with him.

Well, Saturday night it became reality when I got an instant message. An hour later the interview was finished. I figured this could be an interesting column since after all what a coincidence that first a professional baseball player is on line, and secondly a professional baseball player who has the same last name as me, and amongst other things would talk with me.

All of the big-time baseball writers don't have the same last name as any current baseball players like I do. Shaughnessy? Callahan? Buckley? Gammons? Edes? Lupica?

Huh, see I knew there was something that I had over all of them.

Anyway, Lou Pote has a somewhat similar story to that of Jason Bere. Bere went to Wilmington High, then went on to a Junior College and got drafted out of the 36th round and made it to the majors and has been successful. Lou Pote went to Dela Salle High (an all boys school) which is on the South Side of Chicago. He grew up a White Sox fan as he said it's forbidden to be anything else since he lives on the South Side, and he admired Richard Dotson, Bobby Thigpen and Carlton Fisk growing up.

His high school is a basketball powerhouse, but in Lou's senior season as a pitcher/shortstop, he went 8-5 leading his team to its best finish ever in the school's 100th anniversary. They would be the second best baseball team in the state that season.

"I threw hard," said Lou through the instant messages,

"[but] one time through the order and they figured me out. I didn't throw breaking balls until college."

Lou went on to Kishwaukee Jr College which is 90 minutes Northwest of Chicago. While playing ball there he was teammates with Rick Helling, a front line starter now for the Texas Rangers, and Lou Collier who has spent time as an infielder with the Pittsburgh Pirates. From there he was selected in the 29th round by the Giants in the 1990 draft. He would go to Single A minor league baseball at San Jose, California. The following four seasons, he never got out of Double A ball with the Giants.

In 1995 he got traded to the Montreal Expos as one of those "minor leaguers" in exchange for Luis Aquino, who was a long time major league journeyman pitcher who was winding down his career. But on the same day he was traded to the Expos, his new team decided to take him off the 40-man roster. It would take him four more years to get back to that point. On the last day of spring training in 1996, Lou was released, as the Expos told him they wanted to give younger guys a shot at Triple and Double A ball.

"[From there] I played beer league for a whole summer until the Cards called on August 4 and I pitched AA the rest of the season [for them]," he said.

From that day of spring training in Florida until August 4, Lou said he tried at first to get another job in minor league ball, but decided to take some time off.

"For a while, I tried [to get with another team] then I said 'forget it'. No one called and I was having a blast again playing with my buddies and not having to worry about all of the politics involved with the minor leagues and pro ball in general."

Then the Cardinals called on August 4th and he finished the season with their AA team. That winter his agent got two phone calls, from the Rangers and Angels to see if he wanted to sign a minor league contract.

"I told my agent that I'd go with the Angels because the last time I spent spring training in Florida I got released," he said.

For the sixth straight season he pitched Double A ball, at Midland, Texas, never getting to the Triple A level. He renewed his contract with the Angels for the 1999 season hoping he could finally get over the hump and at least make it to Triple A.

"[I didn't want to give it up] because I played with guys that made it [to the major leagues] and I knew that I was as good or better [than them]. I figured I played six or seven years, so why give it up? I never have before," he said.

After spring training of this past year, he was assigned to Edmonton, the Triple A team of the Angels. He would pitch for half of the season, going 7-9 in 24 starts, pitching 150 innings, giving up 171 hits, 41 walks, while striking out 118. But because of many injuries to the Angels pitching staff, they called down to the minor leagues for help and Lou would get his first recall to "The Show" as a 28-year-old rookie. He never went back to the minor leagues spending the last two months with the team.

"My first day [in the majors] was awesome; everything you hear is true. My first game I was nervous as hell in the bullpen warming up. We were playing Cleveland at home and Steve Sparks had been getting in trouble, but I figured they would try to get me in a game either blowout by us or them."

"The phone rang and there were two guys on and no outs. They said that if the next guy gets on base you're in. Sure thing the next guy got on and I go in — not nervous anymore, just pumped up."

Back home, his sister Mary got a call from her friend who had a satellite dish and said that Lou was going into the game. Mary, a basketball and softball player at Maria High in Chicago who helped the teams go deep in their state tournaments, grabbed her two kids and went over to her friend's house.

Meanwhile their entire family was also pretty excited about Lou's first major league appearance, including parents Roger (who was a former high school pitcher himself) and Judy, as well as 25-year old brother Brian. "He's that good, [so I knew he would get the chance]," said Mary.

Lou would come into the game against the toughest hitting team in the American League, in his first appearance with runners on second and third and no outs.

"[I'd get Richie] Sexson [to hit a] grounder to short, Alex Ramirez struck out and Enrique Wilson grounded to second."

He pitched three innings in his debut, giving up just one run, a solo homerun to Manny Ramirez, who is arguably one of the most feared batters in all of baseball.

Lou pitched the last few months with the Angels, including a marvelous stint against the Red Sox which he struck out almost every batter he faced.

"I was just trying to pitch well and show [the Angels] I belonged," he said. "Every time out was an opportunity for me to show them I belonged."

He ended the season pitching in 20 games, all out of the bullpen, going 1-1 with a very impressive 2.15 E.R.A., with three saves. He pitched 29.1 innings, giving up 23 hits, 12 walks and striking out 20.

The Angels had probably their worst season ever, especially after signing Mo Vaughn from the Red Sox, Tim Lincecum and several other free agents. But the season was a disaster starting with injury after injury including Billerica's Gary Disarcina, who broke his forearm in spring training when he got smacked by a fungo bat from hitting instructor George Hendricks by accident.

The team went to shambles with constant bickering. After the season ended in October, General Manager Bill Bavasi and Manager Terry Collins were both fired. Mike Scioscia is the new manager now, but the front office promised many trades and moves over the off-season. They've done pretty much nothing, losing free agent pitchers Chuck Finley and Mike Magnante, and adding two second basemen, Scott Spiezio and Pat Kelly.

Lou hopes there's a spot for him in the bullpen for this upcoming 2000 season, but said he thinks a new system will help the team.

"I can't really say because I was only there for two months," he answered about the team chaos, "I didn't know anything else but what I saw. I just basically kept to myself."

"I'm trying to make the team, and as far as the people they have brought in, it's just a different system and hopefully this one works unlike the old."

When asked about the presence of Mo Vaughn and if the Red Sox should have kept him, he said, "No way. He's better off on our team. You guys have enough. We need Mo."

Who knows whether or not I am related to him, somewhere along my family tree would decide that. But as far as I know, I don't have any relatives from Chicago. But any way you look at it, it's a pretty interesting story about a journey to the major leagues, told through instant messages.

Husband-and-wife pair up to help LSA

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Steve and Laura Turner have only been in Wilmington for three years now, and already they have made a difference.

Just a few weeks ago, they traveled to Honolulu, Hawaii, to take part in their first ever Marathon. Besides the aches and pains of the normal 26-mile run, the husband-and-wife tandem took part in the third largest marathon in the world. They helped to raise $6,800 as part of the total 8 million dollars that was raised by the 2,400 runners who reached out to help the Leukemia Society.

"It was very tough, but it was also very exciting," said Steve, a 36-year-old insurance agent for Northwest Mutual Life in Boston. "It was 5 am when we started, it was pitched black out and raining hard. We had trash bags over our heads. There were fire works and army cannons which were neat. It was very organized, but very crowded (26,000 runners) and the support you get along the way is just incredible."

But it's support that Steve and Laura were trying to give all along.

"We had in it in the back of our minds to run a marathon," said Steve. "Then in the spring we got this pamphlet from the LSA that said if we helped raise money, they would provide the proper training, coaching and the cost. So we figured that was a good combination of helping people and [running our first marathon]."

Steve and Laura are still seeking donations as part of the 8,000 dollar entrance fee to the Marathon on behalf of the Leukemia Society of America. If you would like to donate you can do so by sending a check to: Steve and Laura Turner, at 6 Cherry Street, Wilmington, Ma., 01887. Please make checks payable to the Leukemia Society of America. You may also call the Turner's at 657-8048.

Thanks to these wonderful people...

Dear Editor:
My wife, Laura and I recently finished our first-ever marathon on December 12, 1999 for the Leukemia Society of America in honor of a young boy named Tory Andrews. We were able to raise $6,800 for this charity through generous contributions from the following associations:

Wilmington Police Department
Wilmington Fire Department
St. Dorothy's Church
Chef's Table Restaurant.
Also, we would like to thank the residents of the following streets who also assisted us financially in our fundraising:

Mite E's wake up just in time

Wilmington knew they were in for a tough game when right off the opening faceoff Methuen came down and scored. That's what Wilmington needed to wake up.

Patrick Boudreau, Paul Duffy and Matt Larffarello kept the pressure on Methuen with great work in the corners and behind the net. Corey Lee and Dean Moran were solid on the blue line keeping the puck in the offensive zone.

Midway through the second, Sean Tavares made a great pass through the defensive to Justin Rivera who drilled a shot that Methuen's goalie just got a piece of. Patrick Young put in some extra effort in the corner digging the puck out to set up Cody Wilkins who just missed on the short side.

Cam Despres turned in an impressive game, breaking up many of Methuen's attacks. Brian Good and Brian Fitzpatrick teamed up on defense to foil and confuse the Methuen attack.

Brian Hurley made his debut as a forward and turned heads with hard skating and good passing to Tommy Callahan who just missed on a couple of breakaways.

Wilmington played their hearts out, but the biggest heart was the star of the game, goalie Melissa Good who inspired her team and the crowd with many awesome standup and diving saves.

Pitching/hitting clinics offered

Wilmington High School softball coach Paul Lyman will present the fourth annual Wildcat Hitting Clinics at the Cage.

Scoreboard and round-up

Wednesday, January 5

Wrestling:

Tewksbury 37, Shawsheen 36: Tewksbury wins four of the final matches as Al Donovan beats his brother Mark in the battle of the coaches. Tewksbury's Brian Deshler, Steve Bagley, Jack Bryne and Jason Stotik all won their matches to preserve the Redmen's sixth win in eight matches.

Ice Hockey:

Masconomet 2, Wilmington 1: Wilmington loses its first game, as back-up goaltender Joe "Lucky" Luciano makes his first varsity start and was stellar making 10 saves. Mike Whitney scored the lone goal for the 'Cats.

Billerica 3, Tewksbury 1: The Redmen didn't play their best game in this league loss against its biggest rival, but they came back several days later to beat Chelmsford. In this loss, Bob Fitzmaurice scored the lone goal, as goaltender John Sheehan made 28 saves.

Thursday, January 6:

Ice Hockey:

Shawsheen 10, Pope John 0: Shawsheen totally dominated this game as locals Tim Harris, Dave Ferreira and Brian Corcoran all contributed in the scoring frenzy.

Friday, January 7:

Girls Basketball:

PMA-Methuen 47, Shawsheen 34: The Rams struggled offensively scoring just 11 points in the first half. Wilmington native Ashley Morgado led the way with 12 points.

Tewksbury 59, Notre Dame 48: The Redgals received spread out scoring as Katelyn O'Brien, Nicole Poirier and Rachel Burke each had 11 points in this MVC victory.

Wilmington 44, Triton 34: The 'Cats overcame the Vikings to push their record to 4-4 overall as Meredith Cipriani (12 points, 12 rebounds) Lindsay Bruno (9 points) and Lyndsey Borsetti (6 points) led the attack for the 'Cats combining for 27 of the team's 44 points.

Boys Basketball:

Wilmington 61, Triton 41: The 'Cats bounced back from its miserable loss against Masconomet, with a 20 point victory on the road. Eric Swiezynski lead the way with 23 points and 17 rebounds, while Darren Arciero was the only other player to get in double figures with 10 points.

Shawsheen 67, North Shore 60: The young and energetic Rams team won its third straight game with Steve Winchester leading the way with 20 points. Local natives Chirs Kerr and Adam Fournier contributed in the win as Kerr had 6 points and 10 rebounds.

Swimming:

Shawsheen 87, Lynn Tech 74: The Co-Ed team remained undefeated at 3-0, as locals Mary Tringale, Dan Shanahan and Jason Manent all had big meets. Tringale and Shanahan were part of the winning 200 medley relay team that finished at 2:12.20, and part of the winning 200 free relay race with a time of 1:58.47. Tringale was part of the winning 400 free relay team which finished at 4:45.21, while, Shanahan was part of the second place team in the same race. Tringale also won the 100 butterfly (1:23.68) and Shanahan won the 50 free (26.79). As for Manent, he took a second place in the 1-meter diving, was part of the second place 200 free relay team and part of the third place 400 free relay team.

Saturday, January 8

Ice Hockey:

Tewksbury 3, Chelmsford 0: The Redmen upset the powerful Chelmsford team with a 3-0 shut out. John Sheehan played superb stopping all 20 shots, while Dan Fratalia scored two goals and Sean Walsh notched the other.

Wilmington 2, Triton 0: The 'Cats posted its fifth shutout of the season as Geoff Ferreira and Dan Torpey scored the two goals, while, Mike O'Connor returned to the net and recorded his fifth doughnut, already matching last year's high total.

Shawsheen 3, Northeast 1: The Rams made it two in a row, as locals Brian Corcoran and Dan Tello figured in all three goals, while Justin Brady of Wilmington stopped 25 shots.

Track:

Wilmington Girls 55, Ipswich 31: The girls improved to 2-1 on the season, as Rebecca Rufo had two first place finishes in the high jump and mile, and Kim Gillespie won the 300 and was part of the winning 4x400 relay team along with Michaela Rufo, Katelyn Sughrue and Stefany Quinton.

Wilmington Boys Track 79, Ipswich 7: The boys also improved to 2-1, as Chris Calway lead the way with first place finishes in the 50 hurdles and high jump.

Sunday, January 9:

Girls Basketball:

Tewksbury 56, St. Mary's-Lynn 46: Katelyn O'Brien had a career night scoring 22 points to lead the girls to its fourth win in seven tries against non-league opponent St. Mary's on the road. Mandy Venuti also was in double figures in points with 12.

Monday, January 10:

Gymnastics:

Tewksbury 117.65, Billerica 112.6: The very young Redmen gymnastics team made it 3-for-3 in wins, and perhaps a gymnastics team has never started out 3-0 in school history. Ashley Montague had another strong night, scoring 7.5 on the bars, 8.3 on the beam and 8.0 on the floor exercise.

Tuesday, January 11:

Girls Basketball:

Wilmington 52, Hamilton-Wenham 52 (OT): Senior center Meredith Cipriani had arguably the best night a WHS girls basketball player has had in many, many years. She ended the game with 25 points (just about half of her team's points), 25 rebounds and 6 blocked shots.

Haverhill 64, Tewksbury 46: Tewksbury came back from a 10-0 deficit early on, but couldn't get over the edge against MVC opponent Haverhill. Sophomore Rachel Burke led the team with 13 points and 13 bruises.

Tyngsboro 41, Shawsheen 23: The young Rams continue to struggle putting points on the board. Freshman Ashley Morgado of Wilmington led the way with 13 points.

Boys Basketball:

Shawsheen 65, Tyngsboro 55: The Rams won their fourth game in a row beating Tyngsboro behind 26 points from Steve Winchester and 16 from first-year player Chris Kerr of Tewksbury. With the win, the Rams are in a three-way tie for first place in the CAC.

Hamilton-Wenham 50, Wilmington 49: The 'Cats fall to 4-4 on the young season as they struggled for the second time at home shooting the ball. Eric Swiezynski led the way with 18 points, including hitting three treys within the last minute of play.

Haverhill 63, Tewksbury 52: Roger Brasil scored 23 and Ryan White added 11 but that wasn't enough as the Hillies prevailed.

Compiled by Jamie Pote

Stars of the Week:

Wilmington:

Joe Cullen, the goaltender at Bentley College made 40 saves on Sunday as part of the team's 4-4 tie against Fairfield.

Mike O'Connor and Joe Luciano, the goalies for the WHS ice Hockey team, continued the strong performance inbetween the pipes this week. Luciano made his first start last Wednesday as O'Connor was sick and the team lost 2-1 as he played very well against Masconomet. O'Connor came back to the net on Saturday and posted his fifth shut out of the young season, as he helped to beat Triton, 2-0.

Lyndsey Borsetti, helped the WHS girls basketball team to a victory on Friday night against Triton with 6 points, but more importantly she played very well defensively.

Pete Reitchel (119), Pat Heffernan (135) and Marc Sollazzo (145) finished second place in their respective weight class for the WHS wrestling team which took sixth place in the Haverhill Invitational on Saturday.

Bryan Mather, of the WHS Boys Track team won the shot put in the team's league win against Ipswich on Saturday, and then came back the next day as part of the shot put relay team which placed fourth in the State Class D Coaches Relay Meet along with Rob Rogers and Joe Ranno.

Rebecca Rufo took two first place finishes for the WHS Girls Track team in their league win against Ipswich and then she was a part of two fourth place finishes at the State Coaches Relay Meet, as the high jump and the 4x400 relay team both placed.

Eric Swiezynski had a monster game on Friday night for the WHS boys basketball team, as he scored 23 points and had 17 rebounds in the 61-41 win over Triton.

Tewksbury:

Nick Malley, of the boys track team, was part of two second place finishes in Sunday's State Coaches Relay Meet. He jumped 18'4.50" in the long jump as that trio finished second overall, and then he was part of the second place shuttle hurdle relay team.

John Sheehan and Dan Fratalia of the ice hockey team led the way in the team's shocking 3-0 win against Chelmsford on Saturday night. Sheehan made all 20 saves in the net for the shut out, while sophomore Fratalia scored two goals.

Al Donovan, coach of the wrestling team, who beat his brother Mark - who is the coach of Shawsheen - last Wednesday after several years of his younger brother having the upper hand (Mark got a star last year).

Katelyn O'Brien, is a star for the second week in a row. All she did this week was score 11 points in the team's win on Friday, and then came back to put in a career high 22 against non-league opponent St. Mary's of Lynn.

Carolyn Hannus, Melinda Monaco, Jenna Vannah and Andrea Toland all had big performances for the girls track team on Sunday at the Coaches Relay Meet. The four of them combined to take a second place in the 4x200 relay team, while the first three were part of the fourth place 4x50-yard dash. Toland was the anchor leg of the 4x400 relay team which took second place.

Ashley Montague had a big night for the undefeated gymnastics team, getting the team's top scores in the bars (7.5), beam (8.3) and floor (9.0).

THE SHAWSHEEN ICE HOCKEY TEAM had many reason to celebrate this week with a 10-0 win over Pope John. (Photo by Maureen Lamoureux).

Boys track puts up 79 points

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Last Saturday the Wilmington boys' track and field team faced Ipswich and recorded perhaps the most lopsided victory ever in the history of the Wildcats. Wilmington defeated Ipswich 79-7.

"I don't remember seeing one (victory) that was so convincing," said Wildcats head coach Bob Cripps. "I know we have never won one by that much before and I have never seen anyone else do it either."

When a team wins so convincingly, it can only mean one thing: that they had a lot of first place finishes. And that is what the Wildcats did.

Junior Chris Calway has shown up in every meet and made his presence felt. This meet was not any different. Calway took first place in the 50 hurdles (7.5) and the high jump (5.6) to lead the Wildcats.

Junior Josh Hiltz did his part in the 50-yard dash, picking up the victory, with a time of six seconds flat and senior Paul DeGennaro led all runners in the two mile.

Junior Mark Jepson, who is without a doubt a bonafide speedster, with a time of 35.5, won the 300. Senior Greg Monteiro was as impressive in the 600 finishing at 1:26.5.

In the 1,000, junior Jeff Cannon ran a strong race and was the victor in a solid time of 2:46. The 4 x 400 team of junior John DePasquale, DeGennaro, Monteiro, and senior Jim Rourke combined to win the relay with a time of 4:10.01.

Senior Bryan Mather had a big week for the Wildcats. Not only did Mather take first place in the shotput against Ipswich, on Sunday, he continued his winning ways in the Class D relays championship at the Reggie Lewis center.

Mather, junior Joe Ranno, and senior captain Rob Rogers combined to take fourth place in the shotput with combined throws of 116'3.25". The Wildcats as a whole finished in sixth place (14 points) out of 23 teams.

"I have no complaints," said Cripps of the Wildcats' efforts. "It was a fun meet."

The Wildcats medaled in the 4 x 50 meter relay shuttle dash as the team of Hiltz, juniors David Graves, Andy Hackett, and Jepson overcame slow start by Hiltz, who slipped at the start of the race, to finish third with a time of 23.33.

The 4 x 50 team are the defending champs in the relays championship and although they were unable to repeat, they were pleased with the results.

"They thought they could repeat," said Cripps. "But, they did a good job."

Said Hiltz, "When I got down to start I didn't even get set and (the starter) blew the gun. So, I slipped at the beginning. That could have been the difference between finishing second or maybe first. We ended up alright though."

The only other team that placed for the Wildcats on Sunday was the 4x800 team of senior Andy Myers, Rourke, Monteiro, and Cannon. The team had a time of 8:49.7, finished in fourth place, and qualified for the State Meet.

Time Change

This Friday's Wilmington and Tewksbury JV and Varsity boys basketball game which was scheduled to be played at TMS at 6 and 7:30, has been moved to 4:30 for the JV game and 6 p.m. for the varsity game.

Mather, Ranno and Rogers excel at Coaches' Relay Shot put trio takes fourth

Track and field can sometimes be thought of as a lonely sport. It is a group of individuals who try to run the fastest, jump the highest, or throw the longest. Granted the effort each individual gives results in team points, but, at the end of the day, what is even more important are individual achievements - like who qualified for the states.

This past Sunday, at the Reggie Lewis Center, the Class D relays championships took place, turning what many might consider an individual sport into a team sport.

One group of athletes, the Wilmington boys shotput relay team, made up of senior captain Rob Rogers, senior Brian Mather, and junior Joe Ranno, combined for a throwing effort of 116'3.35", which was fourth on the day.

"None of them had their best throw," said Wilmington head coach Bob Cripps. "In this particular event we had three shotputters with relatively decent throws. If you can do that you will do well."

Seenok, who finished in first place, relied on one shotputter who is able to throw over 60 feet, to carry its team. Wilmington on the other hand, put three capable shotputters out there to work together to try and win. And, they did not disappoint.

"As a team this is probably the most important meet all year," said Mather. "We definitely helped each other. This was important."

Rogers and Mather were members of last year's team, which did not place in the relays a year ago. So, for the two seniors, this was a nice way to leave their final relays championship.

"I didn't think we were going to place," said Rogers, who threw a team best 40 feet. "Last year we came in here and we didn't place. This year I saw the same kids. But, I am pretty pleased. Shocked actually. If we had thrown our best we probably would have been in third place."

Mather said, "We just played as a team and we improved from last year."

Unlike Rogers and Mather, this was Ranno's first time doing the shotput. However it did not take him long to get accustomed to working with Rogers and Mather, and then making a contribution.

"Ranno has been a pleasant surprise," said Cripps. "It is nice to see him doing well."

The shotput team put up very respectable numbers although they will tell you they can do much better. In fact, if Rogers and Mather threw the 42' that they are capable of, and Ranno threw a 38 that he has done in the past, the Wildcats would easily have taken second place.

However, on a day when they weren't at their best, it took a team effort to come away with a very respectable fourth place finish.

WHS Girls Track Two-out-of-three ain't bad

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's girls track and field team proved they were pretty tough as they defeated another tough team in Cape Ann League Ipswich, 55-31, last Wednesday at Lynn Tech.

"It was a really good meet," said Wilmington head coach Kara Kane, whose record now stands at 2-1. "The girls ran really well."

Leading the way for the Wildcats were juniors Becky Rufo and Kim Gillespie. Becky cleared 4'8" in the high jump for a first place finish and ran the mile in 6:07.6, also good enough for first place.

Gillespie, like Becky, finished first in two different events. With a time of :44, Gillespie won the 300. She also took first place as a member of the 4 x 400 team along with freshman Michaela Rufo, junior Katelyn Sughrue and sophomore Stefany Quinton. The team's time was an impressive 4:59. Gillespie finished third in the high jump clearing 4'6".

The first place finishes did not end there for the Wildcats.

Freshman Michelle Brush continued to run with confidence as she won the two-mile with a time of 12:49.7. Michaela Rufo, who already had won on the 4 x 400, added to her strong season with a victory in the 600 (1:44.2).

Senior Lynn Hurley finished first in the 1,000 with a time of 3:20.5.

With the victory over Ipswich, the Wildcats did not have time to relax. Wilmington now had to prepare for the Class D relays championship that took place at the Reggie Lewis Center last Sunday.

The Wildcats came into the relays confident that they would put forth a strong performance. And, that is what they did. Although the overall scores show that Wilmington finished with only six points, good enough for 14th place out of 22 teams, it was the individual performances that left Kane pleased with her team's performance.

"I think the kids like the relays and how it is more team oriented," said Kane. "They all ran excellent."

The most noticeable and intriguing event for the Wildcats came in the 4 x 400 relay. The team of junior Michele Lemos, Gillespie, Hurley, and Becky Rufo ran in the second heat of the event. However, their

The Wilmington girls hoop team came into Friday night's contest needing a win to boost them to a .500 record, something that would no doubt give the Wildcats confidence for the rest of the season.

Despite starting slow, Wilmington managed to beat up on the Triton Viking's behind Meredith Cipriani's 12 points and 12 rebounds, winning 44-34, to put them at 4-4 for the season.

"I think we played really well," said Wilmington head coach Beth Livermore. "We didn't get off to such a hot start, but we picked it up in the second half and got a real nice team win."

Wilmington was hurt under the boards early by the Vikings, who were grabbing everything. Lindsay Bruno (9 points) opened up the scoring for the Wildcats, hitting two jump shots giving them an 8-6 lead. But for most of the first half both team shot poorly.

"I think we definitely need to work on shooting this week in practice," said Livermore.

With four minutes remaining in the half Lyndsey Borsetti drilled a jump shot, making the score 10-7 in Wilmington's favor. Borsetti had six points in the game and played very well defensively.

"I think Lyndsey had an outstanding game for us," stated Livermore. "She played very well off the bench and her game just keeps getting better."

Triton came back with a 3-pointer, giving them back the lead, 11-10. But the Viking's head coach was called for a technical foul, giving the Wildcats a chance to go up. But Wilmington missed all of their free-throws, blowing a strong opportunity to top regain the lead.

Alicia Paquin redeemed her team when she hit two foul shots as the half came to a close, and the Wildcats had a one point lead, 16-15.

Lori Vachon started off the second half with a nice shot from outside, and then Cipriani hit a shot of her own and was fouled in the process. After she hit her shot, the Wilmington defense forced several turnovers, and Kristin Sauve then hit two baskets in a row, putting the Wildcats up 25-17.

Borsetti hit a big shot with just over 10 minutes to go that made the score 30-19. Soon after Megan Sullivan made her presence felt when she drilled her first shot of the game from the top of the key. Then Sullivan made a beautiful pass from out-of-bounds to Kristen Kacamburas for an easy two points to make the score 36-22.

"Megan is a very deceiving player," explained Livermore. "She is very strong and has a very nice shot from the outside."

Wilmington continued to play solid defense, as Kacamburas and Bruno made several steals, allowing the Wildcats to control the game and eventually take the victory, 44-34.

K of C Free Throw contest

The Wilmington Knights of Columbus, with the cooperation of the Wilmington Recreation Department, the High School Athletic Department and the School Department, plan to sponsor the annual Basketball Free Throw Contest at WHS gym Saturday, January 22. The contest is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

Competition is for boys and girls in the 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 age groups only. Groupings are based on your age as of January 1, 2000. There will be separate contests for boys and girls in each age group. No prior registration is necessary. Trophies will be awarded to the winners and those winners can advance to District, Regional and State shoot-outs.

All boys and girls in these age groups are encouraged to go to WHS gym on January 22 and participate in the shoot-out. We also ask the coaches in the Recreation League and the Traveling Teams to recommend participation by their players. Wilmington has been well represented in the State Tourney the past several years. Perhaps some of the players on your teams can reach that level as well.

Come on down and enjoy the fun!!

Squirt C's win Tewksbury tournament

Tewksbury Youth Hockey sponsored the Holiday Hockey Tournament during the Christmas vacation. The Tournament was held at Janas Arena. The Wilmington Squirt C's faced off against Reading, Billerica and Tewksbury. After four days of exciting hockey the Squirt C's took home the championship trophy!

Wilmington 4 Reading 0

Game one of the tournament showcased the speed, passing and solid goaltending displayed by the Squirt C's all season. The Wildcats scored their first goal just four minutes into the first period. It started with an excellent play by Evan Brennan (defense) while keeping the puck in at the point.

Evan made a great pass to Michael Gautreau who one timed it and just missed the short side. Cory Tobin picked up the puck behind the net and circled to the front beating the goalie top corner with a pretty goal. With 5 minutes left in the first period, Evan Brennan made another beautiful pass, this time to Sean Fay who went in on a breakaway and beat the Reading goalie glove side.

The second period was fast paced with heavy action at both ends of the ice. The Reading goalie and Wilmington goalie Michael Cabral came up with some great saves to keep the score at 2-0 Wilmington.

The third period, scoring resulted from hard work and great passing from Josh Westfall and Corey Tobin who found Kevin Creedon out in front of the net. Kevin Creedon scored on a turnaround from the left faceoff circle to put the Wildcats up 3-0.

In the final minutes of the game, Kevin Creedon and Josh Westfall hit a streaking Michael Emery into the Reading zone. Michael Emery closed out the scoring with a hard shot stick side beating the Reading goalie. The game ended with a score of Wilmington 4 - Reading 0. Wilmington goalie Michael Cabral lived up to his nickname "Brick Wall Cabral" as he shut out the Reading team and posted a well earned shut-out.

Wilmington 7 Billerica 1

Game two of the tournament had Wilmington lighting the lamp seven times to beat the Billerica goaltender. The first goal of the game was a highlight film rush by defenseman Evan Brennan who rushed the puck from end to end and beat the Billerica goalie with the only goal of the first period.

The second period was exciting as four more goals were scored by Wilmington and one by Billerica. Kevin Creedon scored the second goal of the game, assisted by Josh Westfall and Michael Robarge to make it 2-0. Jonathan Kincaid provided the third goal with a beautiful rush and unassisted goal making it 3-0. Billerica scored to make it 3-1 and maintained constant pressure on Wilmington goalie Michael Cabral who came up with some big stops. Joey Sheehan scored on a nice pass from Josh Westfall to make it 4-1.

Steven Wamboldt closed the second period scoring after knocking home a rebound with assists from Brian Kelley and Jason Yeomelakis to make it 5-1.

The third period highlights were provided by Michael Gautreau who was assisted by Sean Fay and Michael Emery to make it 6-1. Sean Fay finished the scoring with a beautiful unassisted goal to end the game.

Wilmington 2 Tewksbury 2

Game three of the tournament faced off an undefeated Wilmington and an undefeated Tewksbury team. Tewksbury came out strong and overpowered a smaller but determined Wilmington Squirt C team. Tewksbury and Wilmington both had several scoring opportunities but faced hot goaltenders.

Wilmington goalie Michael Cabral played another outstanding game between the pipes keeping the Wildcats in the game. Tewksbury got on the board first and was able to beat Cabral for two goals in the contest. Wilmington battled back with goals from Jason Yeomelakis and Kevin Creedon to tie the score at two.

The game ended with several gasps and applause from the crowd as they appreciated the intensity of the contest. However, this was only a prelude to the Tournament Championship game which was held on the following day between these two teams.

Wilmington 2 Tewksbury 1

The Championship game was a continuation of game three as the intensity of the players and fans rocked the Janas Arena. A SRO crowd was not disappointed as this game had it all. Tewksbury and Wilmington played excellent hockey displaying some beautiful passing and great goaltending. Tewksbury got on the board in the first period for the only goal of the period. The second period showcased the goalies as they stoned several scoring opportunities from both teams. After two periods it was Tewksbury 1 and Wilmington 0.

The third period was all Wilmington as they swarmed the Tewksbury zone and peppered the Tewksbury goalie who made some great saves. Wilmington continued the pressure and was rewarded with a pretty goal by Jason Yeomelakis to tie the game at 1-1.

Wilmington goalie Michael "Brick Wall" Cabral made several outstanding saves in the final minutes to keep the score even. With just about two minutes left in the game and everybody anticipating a shootout to decide the champion, Wilmington's Kevin Creedon scored from in front of the net to give the C's a 2-1 lead. Kevin Creedon's goal was the eventual game winner as the Wilmington Squirt C's hung on to the lead and celebrated to a thunderous ovation from the entire crowd. Congratulations.

A special thanks to the Tewksbury Youth Hockey Association for sponsoring the Holiday Tournament, coaches, players, parents and teams for their support and sportsmanship.

Squirt A's battle

In a test of character, the Wilmington Wildcats Squirt A youth hockey team battled it out with a very well prepared Chelmsford squad this weekend. During the first period, it was all Chelmsford. The Cats went down 2-0 despite goaltender Mark Manning making several great saves early in the game.

The Wilmington fans were left wondering whether the Chelmsford skaters were just too strong. Fortunately for coaches Bob Silva, Scott Stafford and Rick Steenbruggen, this thought never crossed their minds. They made some adjustments in the second period that quickly turned things around. Wilmington got on the board when Derek Fitzpatrick came out from the corner and found Dan Silva out in front of the Chelmsford net.

Silva unwrapped a wrist shot that the opposing netminder never saw. This definitely seemed to spark the offensive efforts of the Cats. Dana Steenbruggen, Maria Tucker and Alex Santini all played very focused hockey, keeping the puck in the Chelmsford territory much of the period. Mike Fay was another constant threat every time he touched the puck.

During the second period, Derek

Fitzpatrick forced the play again sweeping around the backside of the net to jam the tying goal right by everyone out front. Chelmsford was not going to fold easily on this day, however. They challenged the Wilmington defense throughout the game. But the defense also made it a real team effort. Chris Stafford and Zach Chiampa helped each other out and kept the opposition frustrated when they came into the Wilmington zone.

Likewise, defensemen Zach Church and Derek Griffin utilized their speed to thwart the attempts of the Chelmsford squad and to help bring the puck up for the cats.

Late in the third period, Fitzpatrick somehow poked the puck between two Chelmsford defenders right out to Mark Walsh who broke down the ice with the entire Chelmsford team in chase. Walsh put a nice fake on the goalie and slipped in the tiebreaker for Wilmington. Incredibly, Chelmsford scored seconds later to retie the game with a bouncing puck. While this was frustrating for Manning and the rest of the team, their refusal to let Chelmsford walk away with this game early on showed everyone that this team can compete with anybody.

Mite D's put on late charge

"Better late than ever" seemed to be the theme of the Wilmington Mite D hockey team last Saturday at the Ristuccia Rink when it scored seven unanswered goals in the third period to down local rival Tewksbury by a score of 8-1. The two teams battled neck and neck for two periods with offsetting defensive performances before the Cats exploded in the third to take decisive control of the game and leave Tewksbury with virtually no chance of rebounding.

In the first period, the two teams got off just a handful of shots on goal. Wilmington drew first blood at 7:52 of the first with a dazzling Bobby Orr like goal by Ryan Kennedy, off of an assist by Jarred Hayes. In this score, Kennedy fired the puck and then gathered his own rebound while prone and sliding on the ice to one-handedly shuffle it into the corner past the recovering Tewksbury goalie. The goal was followed by nearly 14 minutes of scoreless, but exciting play, where both squads tried without success to penetrate its opponent's forechecking and defense.

Tewksbury then heated things up and crashed Wilmington's net with a flurry of shots late in the second period to record its first goal and tie the game. The effort left the outcome of the game to be decided during the third, but, as time would tell, that period would belong to Wilmington exclusively.

The D's struck early and often in the third frame, with Peter Leighton, Kyle Cimon and David Mello starting things off by each scoring unassisted goals - two going through the five hole enroute to the Tewksbury net. Leighton nailed his score with a piercing outside shot, while Cimon, a defenseman, somehow carried the puck along the boards from the Wilmington zone through heavy traffic before finding his mark. Kennedy and Leighton then each struck again with their second goals of the game to make it 6-1. Sean Keane later flipped in a rebound past the sprawled Tewksbury goalie, after teammate Brendan O'Brien managed to put the puck on goal from a tough angle to the right of the net. O'Brien then notched his own goal off an assist from David Mello to give Wilmington an 8-1 victory.

Wilmington's Patrick Enwright, Alex Williams, Brett Kidik and Craig Bernard also contributed greatly on offense, while the defensive pairings of Eddie Barrasso, James Clancy, Chris Colosimo, Jarred Hayes, Kyle Cimon and Jimmy Mullen worked effectively with goalie Brian Coutu to seal off Wilmington's net from Tewksbury.

Wilmington 3 Woburn 1

On Saturday, January 8, 2000, the red hot Wilmington Squirt C team took on Woburn at home in a Valley League contest. The Wildcats' Brian Kelly put the C's on the board in the first period with an assist going to Steven Wamboldt.

With several opportunities for both teams, Wilmington's goalie Michael Cabral and the Woburn goalie kept the puck out of the net.

The second period started with Woburn scoring and tying the game at 1-1. Late in the second period

Steven Wamboldt scored on a nice play by Sean Fay to give the C's the lead. Although, this would prove to be the eventual game winner, Steven Wamboldt was not finished. After receiving a nice pass from Jason Yeomelakis, Steven Wamboldt scored for the second time in the game.

Wilmington goalie Michael "Brick Wall" Cabral made the saves to keep the Wildcats in the game. The defense led by Jonathan Kincaid, Evan Brennan and Mike Robarge played an excellent game.

Pee Wee B's tie

Wilmington 2 Methuen 2

The Wilmington Pee Wee B's played two strong games Sunday. A quick recap of the first game against Methuen.

This game would end in a tie Wilmington 2 and Methuen 2. Methuen had control most of the game, but the B's picked up the pace and kept them from scoring. Mike Thibault did a great job keeping the puck out of his net.

First period the B's scored at 9:40. The assist went to Derick Duarte and David Griffin. Score was Ray Bennett picking up the nice pass from him. He sent it in Methuen's net :19 seconds on the clock and Methuen scored.

The second period was scoreless with a lot of battles.

Third period was the same until the clock read 5:39 and Methuen scored. The B's tried harder and at 4:40 Derick Duarte picked up the puck at the red line, skated in and with a nice backhand, scored, unassisted.

Wilmington 5 Medford 2

Medford tried the B's patience throughout this game. First period saw Medford score at 5:45 that would be the only scoring done in the first even with the fast, hard skating of Ray Bennett and Mike McMahon. Their strong shots on net were stopped by their opponents and the lightning speed and checking of Steve Peterson.

Second period, 10:48, Medford scored 3:47 seconds later Jackie Rideout made a nice pass to Jay Surianello. They received an assist as he passed to Nick Yeomelakis who picked it up and scored. This set the B's off as they put them away.

At 5:47 in the second, Steve Emery got an assist as he dug the puck out and passed it to Derick Duarte who took a shot and scored. Before the period ended, Joe Pino made a great attempt as he took the puck from his zone, skating straight into the opponents and took a nice shot. Medford passed on the puck.

Taking the B's into the third was David Griffin who received an assist as he got it to Bryant Buck who took a nice shot on net to score.

At 7:13 Jennifer Corcoran checked her opponent at the corner, taking the puck, getting it to Steve Emery. They got an assist as Steve got the puck to Derick Duarte who, with a wrist shot put it in to score. Final goal was scored by Jay Surianello with the assist going to Scott Dunnett.

Mike Thibault did another fine job goaltending for the B's. His efforts and awareness kept the B's going throughout their games.

Mite A's double trouble

Wilmington 5 Winchester 4

In the first meeting between Wilmington and Winchester Mite A's, the Cats were victorious by a close margin, 5-4. In this Dual State matchup the Cats jumped out on top when Justin Dirienzo found the rebound of a Nick Riccio shot and banged it in. Winchester quickly tied the score at one and that's how the first period ended.

Andrew Goossens put the Cats back on top when he crashed the net on an Eric Siegel shot and put it in for the score. Justin Dirienzo took a feed from Nick Riccio and broke through the defense putting the Cats up by two goals after two periods. The defense was solid with Matt Stokes, Cam Fitzpatrick, Steve Dunnett, Mike Derosa and Casey Pickett sharing duties in this game. Anthony Botte was between the pipes for the Cats and made some great saves to keep the Cats in the lead.

Winchester would get two quick scores to tie the game at three but Andrew Goossens tallied his second score of the game on a perfectly executed faceoff from Eric Siegel who won the draw to Andrew in front of the net. Mike Jensen gave the Cats the eventual game winner on the power play as Matt Stokes found Mike breaking out of the zone and he beat the defense and the goalie for the score.

The Cats nursed the lead as forwards Conor Murphy, Alan Michael Santos and Danny Cushing were getting back to help the defense. Winchester inched closer with less than two minutes to go, but the cats survived the last minute and a half as Winchester pulled its goalie and escaped with the 5-4 win.

Wilmington 1 Medford 0

The Wilmington Mite A's faced the Mustangs in their third meeting of the year. The Cats were expecting a shootout as the last time they played each other the score was tied 6-6. What they got was a defensive gem. Anthony Botte was between the pipes for the Cats and turned back everything Medford shot at him including several shots labeled for the back of the net.

The defense for the Cats held the Medford forwards at bay in front of the Wilmington net and did a great job of keeping the puck in the Medford zone. Backboning the Cats' defense were Cam Fitzpatrick, Steve Dunnett, Mike Derosa, Matt Stokes and Andrew Goossens.

The Cats forwards hustled up and down the ice with Mike Jensen, Alan Michael Santos, Dan Cushing, Eric Siegel, and Conor Murphy creating scoring chances and back checking the Mustang forwards. With seven minutes remaining in the game the line of Nick Riccio, Casey Pickett and Justin Dirienzo worked the puck in the Medford zone getting a couple of shots on net and not letting Medford out of their end. Their work paid off as Nick Riccio gathered a Casey Pickett shot and sent a back handler over the goalie's shoulder for the game winner.

The Cats survived the last minute attack as Anthony Botte made another big save and the Cats took home the 1-0 win.

Ice Hockey team puts up 13 goals

Rams found the net early and often

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Prior to last Thursday, the Shawsheen High ice hockey team had been struggling putting the puck in the net, and putting 'Ws' in the win column. But with just senior forward on the team, it was expected that the Rams might struggle a bit.

With one win in its first five games, Bill Gordon's team erupted this week with two victories; a 10-0 thrashing over Pope John at its home rink of Hallenborg Arena in Billerica, and then a 3-1 win over Northeast on Saturday. Now things are looking much better for the team which is 2-0 within the Commonwealth Athletic Conference, and 3-3-1 overall.

"We needed a game like this," said Gordon after the touchdown and field goal game against Pope John of Everett. "We had been struggling putting the puck in the net. The kids saw today that they are capable of winning once they stick to the game plan and execute."

This game wouldn't have been a 10-0 game, had it not been for a Pope John player get thrown out in the third period for fighting as he tackled and started punching a Shawsheen player who got in the goalie's crease. The ejection led to a 5:30 minute major penalty for Shawsheen, and at the time they were leading 6-0. Once the penalty was called, Pope John basically gave up, as Shawsheen put four more into the net.

"We needed to control the neutral zone, that was the game plan because we haven't been doing that at all. Once you control the neutral zone you take a lot of pressure off your defensemen, and tonight we controlled it right away and that was the difference," said Gordon.

Shawsheen lead 2-0 after the first, and 4-0 after the second. They dominated the play, outshooting Pope John 31-5 through the first two periods. The third period was chaotic and that's when the game got out of hand. But when it all said and done, here's how the scoring went: Nick Dolan had two goals, one assist; Dave Ferriera of Tewksbury scored two goals; Tim Harris also of Tewksbury had a goal and an assist; Duran McNeil of Tewksbury had a goal and two assists; Dave McCoy, Cory Keene, Brian Zimmerman and Matt Matthews scored a goal each; Brian Corcoran of Wilmington and Craig Boyle had two assists; Matt Gillis of Wilmington, Keith Ganley, Tim Scalley, Rob Bartlett and Andrew Lacombe each had one assist.

On Saturday, in a much better game and in a much better victory, Shawsheen beat Northeast, 3-1. Late in the first period in a scoreless tie, Scalley and Corcoran would score 63 seconds apart to give the Rams a 2-0 lead which was good enough for the win. Wilmington native Dan Tello would add the third goal, as netminder Justin Brady, also of Wilmington, made 25 saves in net.

With the two victories, the program currently has 396 wins, with Gordon being a coach of some kind in every year of the program's existence but the first.

On Thursday, Shawsheen will host Lynn Tech for a 7:40 p.m. game and then they will travel to Skate 3 in Tyngsboro on Monday morning at 10:00 am for a non-league game against Westford.

THE MEMBERS' MAGAZINE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS GOLF ASSOCIATION

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

MASSACHUSETTS BEST FEMALE AMATEUR

Anne Marie Tobin

Nice people not only can finish first, they can also finish at the top of their league overall.

A prime example of this is a Lynnfield resident and Reading native, who was won many championships in golf and at 42 years-old has been selected as Massachusetts Best Female Amateur Golfer of the Century by the Massachusetts Golfer, the member magazine for the Massachusetts Golf Association. The woman behind the honor, Anne Marie (Locke) Tobin has many firsts to her credit including being the first female player on the Reading Memorial High School Golf Team and being the first girl's sports reporter for the Daily Times Chronicle.

Ironically, of all her achievements one first that stands out in Tobin's mind is her first junior tournament.

In her Golfer article Tobin is quoted as saying, "My first junior tournament - I shot a 147. I'll always remember getting in a bunker and taking 12 to get out."

"I discovered that day the game meant getting your mind in the right place."

That is a thought that would carry Tobin throughout her studies in school and her career in law.

In her Golfer's Magazine article she is quoted as saying, "Without my golf experience, I may never have been accepted at Mount Holyoke. I may not have met my husband (Jim Tobin, now the pro at Bellevue Golf Club in Melrose).

"Golf is wonderful," Tobin said during an interview. "It is one of the only games around where, if you play well, the credit is yours. If not, the blame is yours."

"It is really a game of accountability. I think that is the way we should treat life."

As to helping with her studies, Tobin said, "There is nothing that can make you more nervous than to stand in front of 1,000 people at a tournament."

A brief synopsis of Tobin's accomplishments shows that she is the Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts Tournament Champion in 1988, '91, '92, '93, '94 and '95. In 1990 she went on to become the New England

Women's Amateur champion and made it to the U. S. Women's Mid-Amateur Quarter Final.

In 1991 Tobin made it to the U.S. Women's Amateur Quarter Finals.

During her college years at Mount Holyoke, Tobin one what has been dubbed as the "triple crown" in 1978 - the Massachusetts Intercollegiate Championship, the New England Intercollegiate Championship and the Penn State-Nittany Lions Invitational.

Her career started with the family membership at the Thompson Club in North Reading.

"My family has been a member of the Thompson Club since about two years after it was formed," Tobin said. "Back then we could play everyday, it was great."

In 1974, Tobin took the big step of attempting to get on the Reading Memorial High School Golf Team.

"We had at that time, great golf teams," Tobin recalled.

However Coach John Hollingsworth liked her style during the tryouts and gave her a chance.

It was a style that included using a "...four wood from the

When Kathy and I got married, it ended a wonderful friendship that began in the first grade.

Lt. Harry Defrietis asked bank manager John Adonnizio, "Sir, can you give me a description of the missing bank teller?" "Yes Sir," John replied. "He is six foot tall and $5,000 SHORT!"

Father Nason said, "Now, let's give each other a sign of PEACE." Aunt Nora said to me, "I hope that kid in front of us wiping his nose with his hand (his right one), doesn't want to shake hands with me." Good kid, he doesn't shake hands with anyone.

The church committee chairwoman sent a note to Kathy saying, "The recent cake you baked and donated for our fund raising was, CONCRETE evidence of your cooperative spirit."

My Aunt Nora calls her girdle a "POT-HOLDER."

My cousin Mario got a bill from his dentist. After the initial shock he called and said, "Doc, I'm confused about the bill you sent me. Is it for the ROOT Canal or, did I buy the Suez Canal?"

I forgot Kathy's birthday. She said "Chipper, why don't you bring me flowers or a box of candy anymore like you did when you were courting me?" I smiled and replied, "Dear, I don't know anyone who keeps feeding worms to a fish AFTER he has caught it!" Folks I've been cooking my own meals for a month after that stupid remark.

My friend Joe Ravida wants to marry a girl whose birthday is the 29th of February (Leap Year). He will only have to buy her a birthday present ONCE every FOUR YEARS.

It cost Richie Gillis $50 dollars to have his family tree looked up and it cost him $500 to keep it quiet!

At a Cannibal Dinner, Stephen Rappa told the Chief, "I don't like your mother-in-law." "That's O'Kay," the chief replied "eat the vegetables!"

Folks, maybe you agree with my Aunt Nora who sang this song to me at my birthday party, "Happy Birthday to you, you belong in a ZOO. You LOOK like a MONKEY and, you write like one too."

PERSONALITY WINNERS, Happy Birthday Ruth Haggerty, Dan and Brenda Gately, Matt Morgan, Katie McDonough, Sarah Hunt, Lauren Maxwell all of WOBURN.

Paul and Doris Mahoney, Andrew Clavetta, Paul DeCoursey, Coach Andrea Cogan, Louis and Gail O'Malley all of WINCHESTER.

T.J. Barletta, Kevin Kenny, Adam Jenkins, Ray Murphy and Lyndsay Miles all of BURLINGTON.

Jim and Jill DiVito, Gail Aufiero, Jessica Clark, Karen Murdock, Carol Melanson and Don Young all of READING.

Bob Cairra, Keith MacFarland, Brian Lauritis, Christie Lake, Lucy Paglicuca and Laura Schmitz all of WAKEFIELD.

Police Officers of the YEAR, James McIntyre and Robert McKinnon; Andrew Chan, Dominic Martignetti, Erin McManus, Leigh Warren all of STONEHAM.

Franklin in Paris musical in Wakefield Jan.13-16

Wakefield Repertory Theatre is gearing up for another of its stellar productions to greet the new millennium. Ben Franklin in Paris, while not as mainstream as many of the group's past winter productions, is a rollicking musical which chronicles the period of time which Franklin, one of our most colorful forefathers, spent in France urging the French government to regard the new country of the United States as a nation to be taken seriously.

Politics, however, make up very little of the plot of this charming musical, for legend has it that Franklin's time in Paris was hardly all business: the story contains more than enough romance, ribaldry, and wit to round out an evening at the theatre. Add to that the spiritedness of this earnest title character and the fervent belief Franklin expresses in the limitless potential of this new nation, and you have production worthy to usher in the new millennium and all the landmark excitement that is represents.

The musical score may be new to many, but audiences will be singing its rousing patriotic anthems and sweetly tender love ballads for days to come after hearing the WRT vocal ensemble's renditions of these beautiful songs. WRT's award winning ensembles have captivated local theatergoers for a decade now, Says cast member and long time WRT Executive Board Member Leanne Giovino, "It's always so much fun to watch and hear the audience reaction to our versions of so many of their familiar favorites from shows like Mame and Oklahoma! but it will be a thrill for all of us to be able to be singing music that people may be hearing for the very first time. It's almost like we are debuting the music and we are, in a sense, for the WRT audiences. I know they're in for a real treat this year."

Visually, this year's production will be splendid, as well. Says Ron Chibaro, WRT's Artistic Director, "Where last year's production of Fiddler on the Roof needed to be sparse in terms of set and drab in terms of costumes in order to reflect the history and geography of the period, this year's production is excessively lavish and ornate for the very same reason. We're having great fun recreating 18th century France for the WRT stage through period props and furniture, and the costumes, with their lovely voluminous gowns and silky powdered wigs truly make this production a visual extravaganza."

Performances will be held at the Galvin Middle School on January 13, 14, and 15 at 7:30 pm and January 16 at 2 pm. Call 781-246-8386 for ticket information.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Reading 'United' in 2000

"Reading resident Robert Cavicchi is lending a hand to United Way - all to improve the lives of children and families in Eastern Massachusetts," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Cavicchi is one of 50 people assisting the United Way of Massachusetts Bay with its annual fund-raising campaign by serving as a Loaned Employee."

"From September to December, Loaned Employees are either sponsored by corporations or remain employed by their company while working at the United Way, helping to maintain low fund-raising costs. The program is an excellent way for executives to grasp the importance of volunteerism and to witness - up close and personal - how committed the United Way is towards serving those in need. This year's Loaned Employees completed an intensive two week training in August."

"Even in today's booming economy, our children and families face issues that threaten their well-being and that of our community," said Marian L. Heard, president and chief executive officer of the United Way of Massachusetts Bay. "That's why we are embarking on our most ambitious fund-raising campaign ever. Loaned Employees are vital to this process." Loaned Employees working with corporate volunteers to organize workplace campaigns raise $25 million annually.

"Cavicchi graduated from Boston University where he earned a bachelor of science degree in industrial management. He is 'on loan' from the Boston Gas Company...."

Impressions from Wilmington and Wakefield

"Milt Freeman of Wilmington and Wakefield returned from Beijing, China with an account that reflects the city's mythicized past, and tumultuous present," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"Beijing is shrouded in mystery for most Wilmington and Tewksbury residents, who are primarily of European descent and have no ties to eastern Asian culture."

"However, Milt Freeman remembers Beijing as shrouded in something else: smog."

"When your plane, that had been travelling through sunny, bright skies, approached Beijing," Freeman said, "it seemed a smog had enveloped the entire city."

"In an interview with the Town Crier, Freeman discussed the insights and impressions he received during a two-week trip to Beijing in October."

"You are always aware that Beijing is a heavily populated city, in spite of the rule of only one child per family," Freeman said.

"The population is reflected in the large volume of traffic, particularly bicycles which are a primary form of transportation in Beijing," Freeman said.

"It's a challenge crossing the street," Freeman said. "Bicycles come in waves, all sizes, some with people and others hauling loads of stuff."

"The bicycles weave in and out of the flow of motorized traffic, negotiating the slew of taxis, buses and pedestrians that patrol the streets of Beijing."

"On most street corners were people with tools operating 'bike repair stations'."

"Tourists such as Freeman made their way around Beijing in taxis, which Freeman said were safer than the jam-packed buses and subways...."

"Freeman traveled to China to visit his son Nelson and daughter-in-law Ilana, and his grandchildren Yonatan, Daniel and David. Nelson is an employee of a government contractor currently renovating the American embassy in Beijing."

"The Great Wall, which Freeman visited at the Badaling entrance, is described as dwarfing the tourists."

"It was filled with people on holiday, like ants walking up the moderate to semi-steep incline," Freeman said.

"However, Freeman said the most attention was generated by something slightly less exotic."

"The biggest tourist attraction was our five-year-old grandson, David, who was stopped at every few steps by the Chinese tourists who wanted their picture taken with him," Freeman said. "If we only charged 10 yen a shot, we could have paid our fare."

Mosquitoes, humidity and memories from Tewksbury

"Battling mosquitoes, combating torrid heat and humidity, and braving spartan field conditions where a cold shower is considered a luxury is not how most people would want to spend a few weeks away from the office," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"But for the son of a Tewksbury couple, the inconvenience more than paid off for thousands of men, women and children who benefited from his efforts."

"Army Reserve Lt. Col. Jeff Keane, son of Connealious and Marilyn Keane, 11 Bailey Road, Tewksbury, is one of the 12,000 National Guardsmen and Army Reservists in Central America providing health care, building new schools and health clinics and repairing roads as part of New Horizons - a military operation repairing last year's damage caused by Hurricanes George and Mitch."

"These humanitarian operations are a series of two to three week annual training rotations where soldiers screen more than fairways and shooting a lot farther than the boys using their irons."

"He gave me a really fair chance," Tobin said. "By my senior year (1975) I was a fair golfer."

Tobin also recalled that it was the support of her family, especially her mother, Barbara Locke, that really helped. It was her mother that drove her to the team tryouts and to that ill-fated 1971 junior's tournament where the bunkers kept bringing down her game.

"At hindsight it was good," Tobin said of her first tournament. "I thought I could go out and shoot and break 100."

It was possible that she could have on her own but tournament play was very different.

Playing as a female on the High School team was also a good experience.

"Playing in high school was great," Tobin said. "It made me focus."

As she recalled, it took a while for members of the other golf teams to fathom that she was one of the golfers they would be playing against.

As Tobin recalled, the boys from the other teams would arrive and see her with a golf bag hanging around with the members of her team.

"They would realize I was a part of the team," Tobin said, "then they would worry about who would have to play me."

She recognized the fact that it was a no win situation for the boy that played against her. If he won he was only playing against a girl and if he lost, a girl beat him.

"I learned a lot about the mental part of the game," Tobin said. "They were talking themselves into losing."

To keep things as fair as possible Tobin always played from the men's tee and that is a piece of advice she passes on to young athletes today.

"Competition with guys is a good thing," Tobin said.

To stress that fact she notes that she still plays in Massachusetts Golfer Association Tournaments where she will be the only female among 30 male golfers.

Another tip, Tobin passes on is for young golfers to "practice their short game - the chipping and putting."

"Everyone can hit it, when I'm not scoring it is because I'm not getting it in the hole."

Today, she is married to husband Jim, and is the mother of Abigail, 8, who "...right now likes everything."

That includes dancing, swimming and other activities. Golf is not on the agenda right now.

Although Tobin does not play as much anymore she is still active having played in two tournaments over the past year.

She is also on the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Golfer's Association. She is also a past president of the Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts (WGAM) and serves as the legal counsel for the group.

The WGAM presents the Anne Marie Tobin Player of the Year Award to the top golfer in the association.

According to Tobin, her successor as president, Sally Fisher, suggested it be named after Tobin because of the work she has done in creating a point system to fairly rank all of the players.

Tobin is also a member of the WGAM's Scholarship Committee which presents Junior Scholarship Award to Junior Girls. The fund was started by STONEHAM BASEBALL COACH BILL SEABURY has been selected for induction into the Massachusetts Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame.

His outstanding career has warranted this honor, which is bestowed only upon Massachusetts' most exceptional baseball coaches. He has been the head coach at Stoneham High School for 25 years, where he has amassed an amazing record of 325 wins and 175 losses. His teams have won seven Middlesex League championships, five Division II North Sectional championships, and a Division II state championship in 1995. The Hall of Fame induction ceremony will be held at the Sheraton Hyannis Hotel and Resort, West End Circle, Hyannis, MA on Saturday, February 5 at 6 pm. The ceremony will be preceded by a reception in the Cape Cod Room from 5-6 pm. Tickets for the cer-

The instructors of The Reading Baseball School would like to announce the details of this winter's programs. The Reading Baseball School, sponsored by the Reading Recreation Department, is this area's most popular baseball instructional program for boys and girls of ages 6-13.

This winter, we offer four exciting programs: a Pitching School, Sunday Sunrise Hitting Sessions, our popular February Vacation School, and our annual weekend Mini-School.

Pitching School: This is a five-hour program where players will be taught the proper mechanics of pitching, including correct grip, tuck position, stride, arm-action, leg drive, release and follow-through. Proper warm-up exercises and pitching drills are designed to help young pitchers throw with greater velocity and control, without injury to the arm.

The pitching school is offered on four consecutive Sunday mornings, Jan. 9, 16, 23 and 30. Players can choose either Session I: 9-10:15 a.m. or Session II: 10:15-11:30 a.m. at the Hawkes Field House, Reading High School.

February Vacation School: This school will provide 10 hours of intensive instruction in the proper baseball fundamentals and mechanics. Players will improve specific baseball skills through drills, videotape sessions and demonstrations. Emphasis will be placed on individual instruction and improvement.

The February Vacation School will be offered from Monday, Feb. 21 through Friday, Feb. 25. Players can choose from Session I: 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. or Session II: 1:30 - 3:30 p.m.

p.m. at the Hawkes Field House, Reading High School.

Reading Baseball Mini-School: This is our 17th annual weekend Mini-School, which includes 4.5 hours of instruction in hitting, throwing, fielding, infield play, outfield play, pitching and baserunning. The program is conducted similar to the week-long schools, but in a condensed form, and serves as a great warm-up for the upcoming baseball season.

The Mini-School is offered on Saturday, March 11 and Sunday, March 12. Choose either Session A: Sat. 9-11:30 and Sun. 9-11:00 or Session B: Sat. 12-2:30 and Sunday 11:30 - 1:30, at the Hawkes Field House, Reading.

Sunday Sunrise Hitting Sessions: This is an intensive hitting instruction for a small group (maximum 24) of players 8-13, who will be divided into even smaller groups, by age, and receive comprehensive instruction in the mechanics of hitting.

Players will be taught proper bat selection, grip, stance, stride, swing and follow-through.

Additional high school coaches are added to insure a supervisor-player ratio of 4:1 or better. Enrollment is limited at all programs.

Why M.E.?

Middlesex East Publications
Reading, MA 01867

To whom it may concern:

Our firm was engaged to conduct a Promotional Sales Event for Coombs Furniture, quality furniture store in your trading area. We worked within a specific advertising budget. After making a careful analysis of the entire area media, we selected the Middlesex East Publications as one of the advertising sources.

THE RESULTS WERE PHENOMENAL! On the opening day of the Sale, the store served the largest number of customers in its entire history. We sold more merchandise than I believed was possible. Not alone was this one day outstanding, but the subsequent and highly gratifying volume of business for the entire Sale period was proof positive that we chose the right medium. Because we sold merchandise in all price ranges, I am convinced that the Middlesex East Publications has full coverage in its trading area.

Feeling that others may be interested in these results and to the pulling power of medium and large sized stores using the Middlesex East Publications. ...may I venture this suggestion? If every buyer of advertising space would give less thought to the advertising rates and deeper thought to the circulation of the medium used, that buyer of advertising would reap a bigger return of business and profits from every dollar spent.

Sincerely,

Christopher Lynch

ALL BREED DOG SHOW JANUARY 15

The Greater Lowell Kennel Club a non-profit organization will hold their annual winter All Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial on Saturday, January 15, at the Royal Plaza Trade Center, 150 Royal Plaza Drive in Fitchburg, at the junction of Rte. 2 and Rte. 31.

Admission is $4, children under 12 are admitted free; senior citizens $3. Show hours are 8 am to 8 pm. Expected entry is 1500 dogs. For further information call the show chairman, Marlene Dunbury at 978-486-8473.

VALENTINE DANCE TO BENEFIT CYSTIC FIBROSIS

The 14th Annual Valentine Dinner Dance for Cystic Fibrosis, sponsored by the Farrell family of Wakefield, will take place at Anthony's Restaurant, 105 Canal St., Malden on Saturday February 5, from 7 pm to midnight. Music will be provided by DJ Linda Lucey, the Music Doctor. She is available to take requests and also enjoys doing line dancing with a wide variety of music selections. Food will be buffet style, with both hot and cold choices. The cost of each ticket is $15.

Cystic Fibrosis affects 30,000 children and young adults in the United States. More than half the patients die by their 32nd birthday from malnutrition or lung infections. Presently there is no cure to combat the disease but recent developments made by researchers at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center may prove to be a turning point in CF treatment. For the past 13 years, with the support of family and friends, money that has been raised has been donated to the Massachusetts Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Massachusetts General Hospital Cystic Fibrosis Clinic. The goal for 2000 is to pass the $140,000 mark.

Besides the numerous donor prizes and raffles, including gift certificates for hotel accommodations, dinners, museums, theatres, ski passes, and items from local and national companies, there will be a silent auction which will contain weekend getaways, airline tickets, autographed items from sports, political, and Hollywood figures, golf certificates, professional sport tickets, and many more unique gifts. There is also a monetary raffle with one winner receiving $2,000 and two winners receiving $500 each.

For questions or ticket information please contact Susan Farrell at 246-2450 or Greg Lucey 324-8050.

EXCHANGE PROGRAM SEEKING FAMILIES

The American Intercultural Student Exchange, a non-profit educational foundation, is seeking local host families for high school foreign exchange students for the 2000/01 school year. AISE's students come from 25 countries throughout the world, and the program continues to expand.

Every year, AISE places exchange students with over two thousand host families throughout the United States. The students live with American families and attend local high schools during their ten month cultural exchange experiences.

Host families provide these young ambassadors with a place to sleep, meals and a family atmosphere in which to live. AISE students are eager to learn about our government, history, and customs, while at the same time leaving a lasting impression of their cultures in the minds and hearts of their American host families and peers.

For information on hosting a student in your home call, 1-800-SIBLING, or visit the AISE web site at www.aise.com.

BOAT BUILDING IS TOPIC

Boat-building is a time-honored craft, one that takes long training, patience, and aesthetic sensibility. Yet rarely have American museums treated it as a visual art in the manner of painting, sculpture, or even architecture.

On January 28, the Peabody Essex Museum gives boat design its due with Suggestive

Curves: The Art of Watercraft. This groundbreaking exhibition showcases the work of craftsmen from the United States, Native America, Asia, and the Pacific Islands, spanning two centuries of small-watercraft design. Suggestive Curves offers a new look at an old trade by displaying boats in ways that draw attention to their shape and elegance. The exhibition runs through May 7.

For more information call 800-745-4054.

CONCERT IN READING ON JANUARY 22

The Friends of the Reading Public Library are pleased to announce a concert by flutist, Vanessa Breault Mulvey; soprano, Carol Mastrodomenico and pianist, Steven Morris at the Reading Public Library, 64 Middlesex Avenue, on Saturday, January 22, at 8 pm.

The program, "A Century of Music for Flute and Voice" will include music of Martin, Luening, Schoenberg, Corigliano, Roussel and Ibert.

Vanessa Breault Mulvey, is an active performer and teacher in the greater Boston area. She has performed as a soloist and ensemble musician on numerous concert series. Her collaboration with the combined ensembles of the Longy Chamber Singers and the New England Conservatory Camerata resulted in a recording of Shchedrin's The Sealed Angel on the Sonora Label.

Carol Mastrodomenico, soprano, was most recently heard as a soloist in Britten's Ceremony of Carols and Schubert's Mass in G at Old North Church.

Steven Morris, holds degrees in piano performance and accompaniment from UNC-Chapel Hill, Western Michigan University and New England Conservatory. Mr. Morris maintains an active vocal coaching studio in Boston and has played concerts at all the major colleges and conservatories in the area.

This concert is sponsored by the Friends of the Reading Public Library and is supported, by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, as administered by the Reading Cultural Council. The concert is free of charge, handicap accessible and open to the public.

FURNITURE MAKING EXHIBIT OPENING

From January 22 through April 16, the Wenham Museum will feature Please Be Seated: Fine Furniture Making in America.

The work of fine furniture makers from Boston's North Shore, including Steven Brown of Manchester, Carol Catalano of Hamilton, Philip Lowe of Beverly, and John Ockenga of Hamilton, will be included in this exhibit examining the art, history and process of fine furniture making in America since Colonial times.

Visitors will discover what is involved in making a chair from a tree - how it's engineered to bear weight, characteristics of wood as a medium, tools of yesterday and today, and examples of woodworking joints. The exhibit will examine influences on American furniture makers and the idea of fine furniture as an investment.

An Opening Reception will be held on Friday, January 21, from 5:30 to 7:30 pm. Museum members and the public are invited to bring family and friends to celebrate the exhibit and meet the exhibitors. Philip Lowe will be demonstrating the use of a lathe during the reception.

Special educational programs planned in conjunction with the exhibit include a woodworking demonstration/lecture by fine furniture maker Philip Lowe on February 27, and an adult-child woodworking workshop on April 2.

For more information, please call 978-468-2377.

Relaxation is one key to improving your eyesight!

Would you like to get rid of those bothersome eye glasses that always seem to creep down the bridge of your nose? Help Yourself to Better Sight reveals step-by-step mental and physical drills for rebuilding vision in defective eyes based on the principle of relaxation.

Relaxation is the secret of the art of seeing. It is the basis of the Bates Method, a highly successful system of eye training which has helped countless men, women and children to better eyesight. There are special drills for all types of visual defects such as nearsightedness, farsightedness, dim vision, aging vision, color blindness, off-focus eyes, crossed eyes, tired and strained eyes, work-worn and nerve-torn eyes.

The book is available for $13.50 plus $3 shipping from Lorenza Shelby, 1611 S. Racine Avenue #206, Chicago, IL 60608. There is a chapter on eye training for babies and small children which may be of interest to parents. Dr. William H. Bates conducted 40 years of research before presenting his findings to the American Medical Association. Dr. Bates held degrees from Cornell University and from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City.

Visiting Nurse Hospice seeks volunteers

The Visiting Nurse Hospice, a program of Visiting Nurse of Middlesex-East is seeking volunteers to help support the needs of hospice patients and their families. Training and support will be provided.

The agency serves residents in 28 towns north of Boston and daytime volunteer opportunities are available to help patients in many locations. Many volunteers lend vital support to patients and families by being sensitive listeners, companions, and helpers in practical matters.

Hospice patients are those with terminal diseases and less than six-month life expectancy, living at home. Visiting Nurse Hospice provides professional support and comfort for physical, educational, spiritual, psychological and sociological aspects of the dying process.

The next volunteer training program starts on Tuesday, February 22, 6:30 pm.

To find out more about becoming a Hospice volunteer, please call Pat Kumph, volunteer coordinator at 781-438-3770, ext. 685.

Free winter events calendar offered by Middlesex Fells

The new year brings a new Calendar of Winter Activities in the Middlesex Fells. Thirty-two activities are scheduled for the season and all are free and open to the public.

A brochure includes programs sponsored by both the Friends of the Middlesex Fells Reservation and the MDC.

For a free Program Calendar, call the Friends at 781-662-2340 or visit web site www.fells.org.

Outdoor activities are varied. Easy, moderate and difficult walks and hikes provide an invigorating enjoyment of the Fells.

There is also a snowshoe program for hearty souls. Other programs have an educational focus such as a geology walk for everyone, with two knowledgeable and amiable geologists.

There is an animal tracking program led by an interpretive naturalist who recently concluded a Fells' mammal survey. An outdoor night program, always popular, on amphibian migration will provide a look at this fascinating natural event.

The MDC is sponsoring four indoor programs for youngsters to be held at the Botume House

Visitors Center in Stoneham.

The work of a Ranger, snow, winter wildlife, and bluebird boxes will be explored.

The Friends, an all volunteer association, work to protect this beautiful regional forest, which adjoins Malden, Medford, Melrose, Stoneham and Winchester.

Working with the Metropolitan District Commission, the Friends inform the public of the natural, cultural and recreational features of the Fells, a unique 2,000-acre natural treasure in an urban setting.

The Fells is a beautiful place to recreate, to observe and to 'connect' with the natural environment.

It is diverse with rocky hills, meadows, wetlands, oak and hemlock forests, quiet ponds, vernal pools, panoramic vistas and important geological features. It is for all to appreciate, so come and enjoy it!

Increase your bone density exercise program for cancer and other diseases.

In March, let Sherlock Holmes help you solve the mystery of what to prepare for a quick and delicious dinner. August sees characters from Kipling's The Jungle Book offering tips for choosing the tastiest tropical fruits in the supermarket. Macbeth's three witches cook up an October recipe for less toil and trouble in the kitchen, and characters from Dickens' A Christmas Carol will help you keep the pounds off over the holidays.

The calendar's simple, tasty and nutritious recipes are printed on detachable cards for easy reference all year long.

Whimsically illustrated by Chris Stephens with a series of colorful literary scenes, the AICR 2000 calendar will make a welcome addition to any kitchen.

Copies of Healthy Eating by the Book calendars are available for $5 each. For credit card orders, call toll-free 1-800-843-8114, ext. 716, weekdays, 9 am to 10 pm Eastern time, or send a check with your name and address to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Sharing good news in Wilmington

"Many teachers send a weekly newsletter," notes the Wilmington Town Crier.

"This is a great vehicle for home school communication. Other schools send periodic newsletters outlining the major school events. The district publishes a monthly calendar which organizes all school events in one location. Quarterly academic progress reports are issued at the High School and the Middle School. Weekly progress reports will be issued upon the request of the parent/guardian or at the recommendation of the teacher(s).

Midway through the 99-00 school year

"The most important recommendation, however, is to contact the school at the first sign of academic difficulty. We require students to complete home work assignments on a regular basis and develop a schedule for completion of long term assignments. This requires our mutual support...."

World class in Lynnfield

"It was youth versus experience for the two finalists interviewed to fill the METCO coordinator position vacated before the 99-00 school year," notes the Lynnfield Villager.

"Leto Masamba was appointed by the Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo as the town's new METCO coordinator.

"Palermo said he decided to choose Masamba over the other finalist, Scott MacKenzie, because she was 'very involved' in her current advising position at Roxbury Community College and had strong administrative skills.

"She had that nice combination," Palermo said. "I think it's going to be a very good match."

"At their meeting the School Committee met with the two finalists for the position: Masamba, who has 18 years experience in the counseling field, and MacKenzie, a 1997 graduate of Westfield State College with less than two years in the field.

"Masamba related her life's experiences with those of the children she will be in charge of if granted the position.

"It was a new experience for the students I was with and it was a new experience for me," Masamba said about being the only black student in the class growing up, much like many of Lynnfield's METCO students. "That experience I believe will help me to work with the METCO students."

"She said that is one thing she would like to see changed. If appointed to the position Masamba said she would like to have two or three METCO students together to 'help make the connections' necessary for a student to thrive.

"MacKenzie said he wants to continue to grow as a mentor to children and is 'more than willing to bend over backwards for any student who needs help...."

Youngest daughter of Martin Luther King to speak in Salem

Rev. Bernice A. King, youngest child of Mrs. Coretta Scott King and the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., will be featured speaker at the annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Convocation Jan. 24, 2000, at Salem State College. The event, free and open to the public, will begin at 11 am in the SSC Mainstage Auditorium, 352 Lafayette Ave., Salem.

A nationally renowned orator, Rev. King is pastor of Greater Rising Star Baptist Church in Atlanta, Ga. She is perhaps best remembered as the five-year-old in the Pulitzer Prize photograph taken of her as she lay in her mother's lap during her father's funeral.

Formerly a law clerk in the Fulton County (Ga.) Juvenile Court system, Rev. King holds an undergraduate degree from Spelman College in Atlanta, a master of divinity degree from Emory University and a Doctorate of Law degree from Emory. Ebony Magazine has cited her among the "top 50 leaders of tomorrow."

Rev. King's first book of sermons and speeches, entitled "Hard Questions, Heart Answers," is currently in bookstores.

The day's events will include a campus leadership breakfast prior to the convocation.

Global learning in Woburn

"Learning a foreign language is about more than just picking up the necessary phrases to survive a 'five day-four night' visit, according to the state curriculum framework," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"It's about cultural understanding and, even, apparently, understanding 'human nature.'"

"Assistant Supt. for Curriculum Dr. Louise Nolan presented the revised 'foreign language' curriculum framework at a School Committee meeting and discussed its implementation in Woburn.

"The most obvious change to the framework she noted was its name. When drafted initially, the framework was implemented as the 'world languages' framework, in an effort to acknowledge the languages of the world.

"The framework was renamed to 'acknowledge that here in the U.S., English is our main language,' Nolan said.

"Nolan said the framework acknowledges the modern languages in use around the world and the classical languages of Greek and Latin.

"The foreign language framework's 'core concept' is: 'Language learning is never just about words. Language is a medium in which human beings think and by which they express what they have thought. The study of language - any language - is therefore the study of everything that pertains to human nature, as humans understand it.'

"Its 'guiding principals propose,' Nolan wrote in a summary, that: Students should be proficient in at least one language in addition to English by the time they graduate from high school; Language acquisition is a life-long process...."

Is your home winter ready?

A quarter-million homes are damaged each winter, because homeowners are not prepared for the dangerously cold and freezing temperatures, that the winter months bring, according to State Farm Insurance.

Preparing your home for winter is a necessary precaution that could help save money on costly repairs caused by devastating damage that the winter weather brings.

"Taking the time to thoroughly inspect your home will not only help make your home a safer place to live, but your home may also become more energy efficient," said Steve Wadlington, Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of AmeriSpec, Inc. "Many homeowners are only concerned about the exterior of their home, their roof and gutters for example, when preparing for winter, but there are many other aspects like plumbing, electrical, heating and cooling systems that also need to be examined before cold weather arrives."

As winter approaches, most homeowners know to insulate their water supply to pipes and to install storm windows, but there are several other key items that homeowners should do to properly prepare their home for winter.

With this in mind, AmeriSpec Home Inspection Service, an industry leader in the home inspection industry, offers the following checklist to help homeowners prepare for winter.

Exterior

- Check chimneys for loose, deteriorated, or missing mortar. If these elements are in need of repair it could cause your chimney to lean or deteriorate, presenting a potential fire hazard.

- Check grading (the ground immediately adjacent to the structure) for proper slope away from foundation walls. If grading does not slope away from the structure, rain or melted snow can collect around the foundation causing deterioration, leaking and structure damage.

Roofs

- Clean gutters, strainers and downspouts. Check for debris that can cause blockage or splitting. Make sure downspouts divert water away from the foundation walls, otherwise it can accumulate around the foundation and can eventually enter the lower level of your home.

- Check for any evidence of water penetration in attic and ceilings after wet weather or snowfall. Stains in these areas could be a sign of roof leakage.

- Trim back all tree limbs and vines from the roof. During cold weather, ice can form on the limbs, causing them to break and fall on your roof, damaging your home.

Doors and windows

- Check caulking for deterioration of all openings and joints between wood and masonry. If cracks and joints in your windows are not properly caulked, wind-driven rain or snow could enter and cause wood to rot, metal to rust and masonry to crack and chip. It can also lead cold air to infiltrate your house resulting in higher-heating costs.

- Check weather-stripping of exterior doors. Weather-stripping is desirable because it minimizes air infiltration during the winter months.

- Replace broken or cracked-glass and damaged or missing window screens. Windows exposed to the winter elements are vulnerable to weathering deterioration.

Heating and Cooling

- Clean and change furnace filters every three months of operation. If filters are not cleaned regularly it could result in greater fuel consumption, which could be very costly.

- For hot water boiler systems, check shut-off valve for leaks and drain lower water cut-off per manufacturer's instructions. This needs to be done to prevent a sludge accumulation that can affect its operation.

- Keep area clean around heat pump equipment. If you don't, leaves, seepods, twigs and dirt tend to clog the condenser, restricting the amount of airflow.

WHEN OVERNIGHT GUESTS arrive, futon furnishings turn any room into an instant guest room.

Coat of paint can help sell a house

If you are about to put your house on the market, consider sprucing it up with a fresh coat of paint before putting up the "For Sale" sign. This relatively inexpensive investment will enhance your home's "curb appeal," its first impression on a prospective buyer. And real estate professionals agree that a good first impression is critically important when selling any home.

According to the Rohm and Haas Paint Quality Institute, a quality paint job imparts the kind of well-maintained appearance to a home that gives it a distinct selling advantage.

Electrical

- Periodically check exposed wiring and cables. Replace at first sign of wear and damage. Exposed wire and cable is very dangerous because sun, rain, snow and soil conditions can cause the insulation covering the wire to deteriorate, exposing bare wire.

- Trip circuit breakers every six months and ground fault interrupters monthly to insure proper protection. Circuit breakers have been known to "freeze" in the "on" position; tripping it manually will ensure operational integrity.

- If fuses blow, circuit breakers trip frequently, or any appliance sparks or shorts out, contact a licensed electrician for repairs.

- Use a top quality paint-then promote the completion date and quality of the job in the sales literature and ads for your home. A recently applied, high quality acrylic latex paint, for example, can last 10 years or more compared to three or four years for ordinary paints. That translates into many years of freedom from maintenance for prospective buyers, a very attractive inducement.

- When selecting a color, be conservative. White and neutral colors are often the safest choices, since they will appeal to the greatest number of prospective buyers. Remember, when selling your home, your goal is to create a "wide net" for interested prospects, and not to create the most striking paint scheme in your neighborhood.

- Don't stop with the siding-paint doors, trim and window frames, too. Freshly painted details like these will not only

Realtor Institute course offered

The Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) and the Greater Boston Real Estate Board will co-sponsor Course 301 of the Realtor Institute (GRI) program on February 8 & 9 from 8 am to 5:30 pm at the Wyndham Hotel in Burlington.

The two-day course, which is open only to association members, consists of 15 hours of classroom instruction on the property appraisal process and environmental issues in real estate. Specifically, students will learn legal and economic considerations of appraising; the basic steps of the sales comparison, income and cost approaches of appraisal; and how to deal with radon, urea formaldehyde from insulation, underground storage tanks, during the property transaction process.

The comprehensive course curriculum is designed primarily for Realtors licensed for less than five years, however, recent revisions to the course content make the program ideal for experienced real estate professionals who wish to learn more about current issues and trends as well.

Post holiday cleaning tricks

Guests are gone and the house is yours again - yours to clean up! THE MAIDS professional maid service recommends the following tips to help return your home to its pre-holiday condition.

- GENERAL CLEANING:
- Share the burden: Delegate household chores and assign a task to everyone.
 - Prickly task: To reduce the number of pine needles in your home, wrap your Christmas tree up in a sheet and drag/carry it outside. Vacuum the carpet or floor area thoroughly.
 - Light strings: To prevent tangled light strings, store them around empty gift-wrap tubes.

Coat of paint

contribute to the home's well-maintained appearance, but when tastefully done, they can add valuable character as well.

- Include quality surface preparation in the work. This will produce the best appearance, and add to the life-expectancy of the paint job.
- Finish painting before putting the home on the market. It is always best to avoid the appearance that the painting is being done just to command a higher selling price...even if that is the case.

And don't think this sales advice applies only to houses made of wood. Homes with aluminum siding, vinyl siding or brick can also be successfully painted. In fact, a coat of flat (rather than satin or semi-gloss) paint on aluminum siding will even help conceal minor dents and other surface imperfection on the home's exterior.

So, if you are thinking about selling your home, don't throw away your paint brush. Picking it up might just be the best thing you can do.

For more information on paints and painting, visit the Paint Quality Institute's Web site at www.paintquality.com.

Push the plug into the tube, then wrap the lights around the outside and secure the end with a rubber band. Several strings of lights can be stored on the same tube.

- Candle wax: To remove hardened wax drips from candles, use the ball of your finger or your fingernail (covered with a thin cloth to prevent scratches to the surface, if necessary), and gently push the wax on the candlestick. Or, soften the wax drips with a hair dryer or warm water, and wipe up with a paper towel.
- Candle wax on fabric: Scrape off excess. Place between sheets of paper towels and press with a warm iron until wax is absorbed.

STAINS:

- Cranberry sauce stains on counter tops: Mix 1/4 cup baking soda with water to make a past consistency. Scrub the paste over the stain then rinse with water.

- Gravy, chocolate and vegetables on tablecloths and clothing: presoak stained fabric in cold water and apply a cold water and cornstarch paste. Rub lightly, dry and brush residue off gently.

- Wine spills on carpet: white wine can be wiped away using 1 teaspoon of laundry detergent, 1 teaspoon of white vinegar and 1 quart of cool water. If you have a red wine spill, blot it up with an absorbent towel, then dilute with white vinegar. Next, clean the spot with cold water and cover it with table salt. Wait 10 minutes, then vacuum up the salt.

If you would like more information, or if you find that post holiday cleaning is an insurmountable task, contact THE MAIDS nearest you, or visit their web site at www.maids.com.
